

MRS. CORA SAXON IS NEW CHAIRMAN

Falmouth Woman is Elected Head
of Federated Clubs of District
at Closing Session

STATE PRESIDENT SPEAKS

Mrs. O. M. Pittenger of Indianapolis
Discusses Phases of Federation
Work in Short Talk

At the closing session of the Seventeenth annual convention of the Federated Clubs of the Sixth District held at the Graham Annex auditorium Friday afternoon, the various committee chairmen gave splendid reports and other business, including the election of officers, was transacted.

Mrs. Cora Saxon of Falmouth was chosen as chairman of this district, Mrs. Roscoe C. O'Byrne of Brookville as vice-chairman and Mrs. Don Early of Greenfield as secretary-treasurer. Resolutions were also read and adopted and the treasurer gave a report.

It was decided that the next annual meeting will be held in Connersville next May.

Mrs. O. M. Pittenger of Indianapolis, the state federation president, was present for the afternoon session, and gave a short but splendid address. In beginning her talk she praised the reports of the different committees, showing the work they have been doing and urged them to push forward and try to make their work for the following year reach a higher level.

She also stated that it was the plan of the federation to make it a cooperative organization; to have all the members work together and cooperate in their various works, which will in the end bring success. She urged them to push forward and make their work better. That is why we undertake to do all the hard work that has been outlined for the members of the federated clubs, Mrs. Pittenger declared.

Emphasizing the need of power among the clubs, the state president urged the ladies to get their minds on what they need and then come together for the district meetings to discuss these needs, and through their power should realize their wants. She also urged them to come to the state convention for their inspirations.

She also brought up the question of junior membership. In explaining this point, Mrs. Pittenger said, that the girls were to come into the federation as associate members, to go with their mothers and learn their ways and become a part of the organization.

In closing her talk, she brought up her pet subject, child life. The report of the child welfare committee was excellent, the state president said and she sought to impress upon the mothers.

NEW COURT TERM WILL GET UNDER WAY MONDAY

First Regular Case Set for Next Thursday When Taylor and Newman Will be Tried

CALENDAR NOT COMPLETED

The May term of court convenes on Monday, when the issues and making of the docket will come before Judge Sparks, and plans will be outlined for the few weeks before the summer adjournment.

The court calendar has not been made for the first few weeks, and will probably be arranged after Monday when the issues are taken up by the court.

The second day of the new term will be in recess on Tuesday on account of the primary election, and no business will be transacted.

One case has been definitely set on the calendar for the first week, which is the case involving Donald Newman and Chester Taylor, charged with violating the liquor laws. These two men have been in jail since their arrest several weeks ago on a grand jury indictment. The case will begin Thursday before special Judge Free-mont Miller of Franklin, and it will be the first call for the jury in the new term.

600 CHICKENS LOST IN FIRE

Brooder Belonging to Mrs. Edward
Carson Near Raleigh Burns

Six hundred young chickens were consumed in a fire that destroyed a chicken brooder belonging to Mrs. Edward Carson, living south of Raleigh, on the Ed Chambers farm.

The loss was estimated at more than $200 as two hundred of the chickens were fries.

Several chicken brooders have been destroyed by fire this spring and warnings have been repeatedly issued about the danger of fire because brooders are constructed of flimsy material.

RURAL CARRIERS TO GET FIGURES

Mail Men Will Obtain Harvest Ac-
creage Statistics From Each Farmer That He Serves

MAY BE ANNUAL AFFAIR

Plan of Department of Agriculture is Approved by Postmaster General
H. S. New

A new service for the rural route carriers in Rush county will be founded this summer by the government, according to a bulletin issued by the U. S. department of agriculture and approved by Harry S. New, Postmaster general. The carriers are to provide the department with the harvest acreage figures obtained from the farmers who are served on their routes.

If the plan is successful this fall, it will be followed each year, and accordingly 44,000 carriers all over the nation next September will distribute and collect cards from more than 700,000 farmers, on which will be shown the acreage harvested or to be harvested on individual farms.

This method of obtaining crop information will afford a better basis than ever before for making accurate acreage estimates, declares W. F. Callender in charge of crop estimating work in the Department of Agriculture. Heretofore, the department has mailed out each fall approximately 150,000 schedules to individual farmers, and the number of replies were considerably less representative of the country as a whole than will be the farms reported on under the new system. It is expected under the rural mail carrier plan that nearly a 10 percent sample of all the farms in the United States can be obtained. This large sample of typical farms will be used in estimating total acreage figures for all farms.

Utilization of rural mail carriers in this work is one of the practical examples of economy being practiced by the department and is made possible through the efficiency with which rural carriers have been collecting figures on births, deaths, and numbers of pigs on farms. The so-called pig census has been hailed as one of the really progressive steps in agricultural economics, and it is felt that even better results can be obtained under the new acreage plan. The regular agricultural census by the Census Bureau is also to be made this year and when the figures are available the Department of Agriculture will have an excellent check on the accuracy of the sample method of calculating acreage. By reason of new statistical methods adopted by the department the Government statisticians feel that slight if any difference between the acreage estimate based on the sample data and the census figures will be shown.

Would Rather Act Than Write; Heart And Soul Is In Movies

Carmelita Geraghty, of Hollywood Fame, and Born in Rushville, is Pointed to as the Child of Fortune. In Magazine Review, She Says "Daddy Wanted Me to Write, But I Was Crazy to Act."

Carmelita Geraghty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom J. Geraghty, formerly of this city, is pointed to as the child of fortune, in an article appearing in the current issue of the "Picture Play Magazine", in which the former local girl is given a full page, with a large size photograph.

Miss Geraghty was born in this city, and lived here with her parents, until they moved, and she has frequently visited relatives here. They now reside in Hollywood, where Mr. Geraghty is associated in the motion picture business.

The magazine account of the motion picture actress is as follows: Recipe for one very intriguing personality:

Mix the lambent fires and the languorous grace of a Spanish ancestry with the aggressive spirit and the bubbling wit of the Irish, place the concoction in colorful Hollywood.

WILL MAKE PLANS FOR SUMMER WORK

Institute Arranged May 9 and 10 in Interest of Daily Vacation Bible Schools

ALL CHURCHES ARE INVITED

Conference will be Held at First Presbyterian Church by Experienced Instructors

There will be an institute in the First Presbyterian church May 9 and 10 in the interest of the Daily Vacation Bible schools which are to be held in Rushville this summer. The session will be held Friday afternoon, Friday night and Saturday morning.

Competent and experienced instructors will be here from the Religious Education Committee of the Synod of Indiana of the Presbyterian church and from a similar committee in the Baptist church.

Every year there is a great increase in the number of these vacation Bible Schools. These schools usually continue five weeks. The pupils receive more religious training during those weeks than it is possible to give them in the fifty two Sundays during the year, as they meet in the Sunday school.

All churches of Rushville and Rush County who are interested in this work are urged to send their prospective teachers to the institute. There is no enrollment fee or charge of any kind. Send a committee to make inquiry. You may want to have a school next year if you can't have one this year. Many churches in the country and villages are giving their children the benefit of this kind of training. It is rapidly becoming a part of the church program.

Any churches desiring to make further inquiry regarding the institute may do so by telephoning Rev. Gibson Wilson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of this city.

NEW HEALTH LAWS WILL BE ENFORCED

Public Eating Places Must Exhibit
Sign if They Use Oleomargarine
Instead of Butter

MUST BE ON THE MENUES

Other New Laws Set Standards for Bread, And Regulates Dairymen
In Butter Business

Restaurants in all Indiana cities must comply with a new law regarding the use of oleomargarine as a butter substitute, according to word received by county officials, in which several new rules are set out by the state board of health.

The rules became effective Thursday and local officers will be checked up by state inspectors soon, who are starting out over the state seeing if the orders are complied with.

One of the new orders is of interest to bakeries, for it fixes the standards for bread. Another concerns dairymen, for it relates to butter and the process of making. Another of the new laws has reference to pollution of lakes in Indiana by sewage and domestic waste, and a fourth one regulates the serving of butter substitutes in public eating houses. This law provides that "every person, firm or corporation, conducting any hotel, dining room, restaurant, lunch room, public or private boarding house, dining room, or any other public eating place, where oleomargarine, butterine, or other butter substitute is served, shall print in plain English in a conspicuous place on the bill of fare or menu, the words "Oleomargarine Served Here", and shall display signs bearing the words, "Oleomargarine Served Here" on at least two sides of the room in such manner that they may be easily and readily seen and read from all tables and counters on which food is served.

"The type in which the legend 'Oleomargarine Served Here' is printed shall not be less conspicuous or smaller in size than that used in the remainder of the bill of fare or menu. Display signs shall bear only the legend 'Oleomargarine Served Here' and the word 'Oleomargarine' shall be printed in bold-face black Gothic type not less than two inches high. If margarine composed of vegetable fats, and commonly known as 'Nut Margarine' is served, the words 'Nut Margarine' in the same size and character of type, may be substituted for the word 'Oleomargarine' on the menu and the display signs."

NO TRACE OF MAJOR MARTIN

All Efforts to Locate Flight Commander Are Futile

Bremerton, Wash., May 3—Northern radio stations reported today that despite a thorough search made along the Alaska coast line from Chignik toward Dutch Harbor, no trace has been found of Major Frederick L. Martin, commander of the American round the world flight squadron.

Fears were expressed that Major Martin and his mechanic, Sergeant Alva Harvey, who have not been heard from since Wednesday when they took off from Chignik in a blinding snow storm, are short of food and suffering severely from exposure even if they were fortunate enough to land safely.

Every inlet, cove and bay along the coast was being scoured by government vessels in the hope that the daring aviators might still be found.

TAX RATE BATTLE IN FINAL STAGE

Mellon Plan Supporters Bring Question of Surtaxes Before The Senate Today

HOW THE FACTIONS STAND

Proposals For Surtax Range From 25
to 50 Per Cent—Odds Favor 40
Per Cent Scale

By PAUL R. MALLON
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Washington, May 3—The tax rate battle that will determine what every one will have to pay the government next year entered its final stage today.

Mellon plan supporters brought the question of surtaxes—the keystone of their plan—before the senate for action.

Only three important points remain to be acted upon—income rates, corporation taxes and the inheritance levy. As the oratorical contest was resumed, here is how the various factions stood:

The Mellon plan adherents were ready to compromise on a maximum surtax rate higher than 25 percent. They are said to be willing to go as high as 35 percent.

The Democrats had a graduated scale which runs up to forty percent on big incomes.

One group of progressives wanted fifty percent as a maximum but their chances looked slim.

Senator Medill McCormick had a graduated scale scheme that ran up to 37 percent. (The house passed a 32 1/2 percent provision)

The odds, however, favored the Democratic rate of forty percent. Similarly the Democrats seemed to have the edge on the normal tax rate on small incomes with their two and four percent provision. The Republicans were standing for 3 and 6 percent and said they would refuse to compromise.

Regarding the corporation and inheritance taxes, the lines seemed about evenly divided.

FRATERNITY HOUSE BURNS

Fire Causes Loss of $25,000 at Indiana University

Bloomington, Ind., May 3—Fire early today destroyed the Delta Upsilon fraternity house here. Loss is estimated at $25,000.

No one was in the building, the 24 members of the fraternity having left yesterday to spend the weekend at their homes.

A defective gas heater is believed to have caused the fire.

FINAL APPEALS MADE IN PRIMARY

Campaigns Practically come to Close
Today With Vote Scheduled For
Next Tuesday

INSPECTORS GET SUPPLIES

Spectacular Features Lacking in Campaign Due to Absence of Contest For President

With the pre-primary campaign practically over, final preparations were being made today for the election next Tuesday, when political parties will nominate their county and district candidates for the election next fall, and will express their preference for governor and president.

All state candidates, with the exception of governor, are nominated in convention and it is expected that the candidates for governor also will be nominated in convention, because the primary law provides that the gubernatorial nominee shall receive a majority of all votes cast.

Precinct inspectors called at the clerk's office in the court house today for their supplies and everything will be in readiness next Tuesday for the vote to be cast.

Although an exceptionally quiet campaign, it has begun to "warm up" the past few days locally, as candidates for county offices have been making their last-minute canvass for votes.

Much of the spectacular has been lacking because no contest has been indulged in by presidential candidates for the state-delegation to national conventions, which has provided spectacular features in past primary campaigns.

Although it is greatly conceded that there will be no nomination in the primary of a candidate for governor on either the republican or democratic tickets, the leading candidates on each side have redoubled their efforts during the past week to capture enough votes to put them across.

Ed Toner, Ed Jackson and Lew Shank, the three republican candidates believed to have the edge in the race, have made extensive speaking engagements this week.

Jackson and Shank rallies were held in Indianapolis during the week, while Toner will close his campaign in the twelfth district.

Ed Bush, also had several speaking dates, but Major Davis of Terre Haute confined himself to organization work.

On the democratic side, Dr. Carleton B. McCulloch, party nominee four years ago, is believed to have a slight advantage, with Joseph Cravens and Dale Crittenger following close seconds. Mr. Cravens was to speak here this afternoon.

Activity of other candidates, how-

TO CELEBRATE J. W. CRONIN ANNIVERSARY

Members of St. Mary's Catholic Church of Richmond to Honor
Former Rushville Pastor

Elaborate arrangements are being made by members of St. Mary's Catholic church of Richmond to celebrate the silver jubilee anniversary of Father Walter J. Cronin's ordination into the priesthood, according to Richmond newspapers.

Father Cronin has been in charge of the church there since April, 1912, going to Richmond from Rushville when in 1906 he was appointed pastor of the Catholic church.

Father Cronin's twenty-five anniversary as a priest will come May 25, as he was ordained by Bishop Silas Chartrand on May 25, 1899.

In addition to the celebration of Father Cronin's anniversary, the church is planning to celebrate the dedication of a new marble altar, which is soon to be erected at a cost of $15,000. Work in preparation for the new altar is already being done. Other improvements which are being made or have already been made to the church include a tile floor through out the interior of the church and a completely changed lighting system.

The president already had received a report on the bill from the pension office. Mr. Coolidge has until midnight, May 7, to sign or veto it.

Have You Seen It?

The West in 1876.

Who could tell of it better than Zane Grey? Who could bring it to the screen to finer advantage than Paramount?

The Zane Grey novel, "The Heritage of the Desert," published about five years ago and still at the height of its popularity brought this all to the screen at the Princess theatre last night where it remained today.

Bebe Daniels, Ernest Torrence, Noah Beery and Lloyd Hughes are featured. Irvin Willat directed. It's a story of a fight for irrigation waters—and what a fight it is! All red-blooded Americans will revel in it.

Youth Has Lead

"Grit," the Castle theatre's offering this week, is what may be termed a perfect combination of youth. In the first place, F. Scott Fitzgerald wrote the story, and no writer has a more penetrating understanding of youth or the faculty for drawing a clearer picture of it than he has. Second, Glenn Hunter is the star. No actor on either stage or screen today can make youth and its problems so real. It is not surprising then that an excellent picture is the result of this ideal combination of youth.

That is exactly what grit is—an excellent picture. The story combines a thrilling tale of the underworld and a tender romance of young love. It is the chronicle of an East Side boy's attempt to break away from the gang of crooks who have brought him up and of the inspiration of a girl who was once a thief herself.

Glenn Hunter makes the problems of "Kid Hart" seem very real and Clara Bow is excellent as Orchid McConigle, the girl who awakens the "Kid" to a realization of his cowardice.

Bristol, Va.—"I can sleep good at night now, something I have never done before in my life," says Mrs. Deala Hawks, of 712 Prospect St., this city, "and it is due to Cardui."

"I used to go to bed tired and, when I would get up in the morning, I was still tired. Now I feel like doing a day's work in my garden or in the house, and I owe all this good health to Cardui, for I had suffered for years until I took it."

Watch for the Marked Ballots

Rush County voters will probably find, as in past campaigns, on their doorsteps the morning of the Primary Election a carefully marked ballot, directing them how to vote.

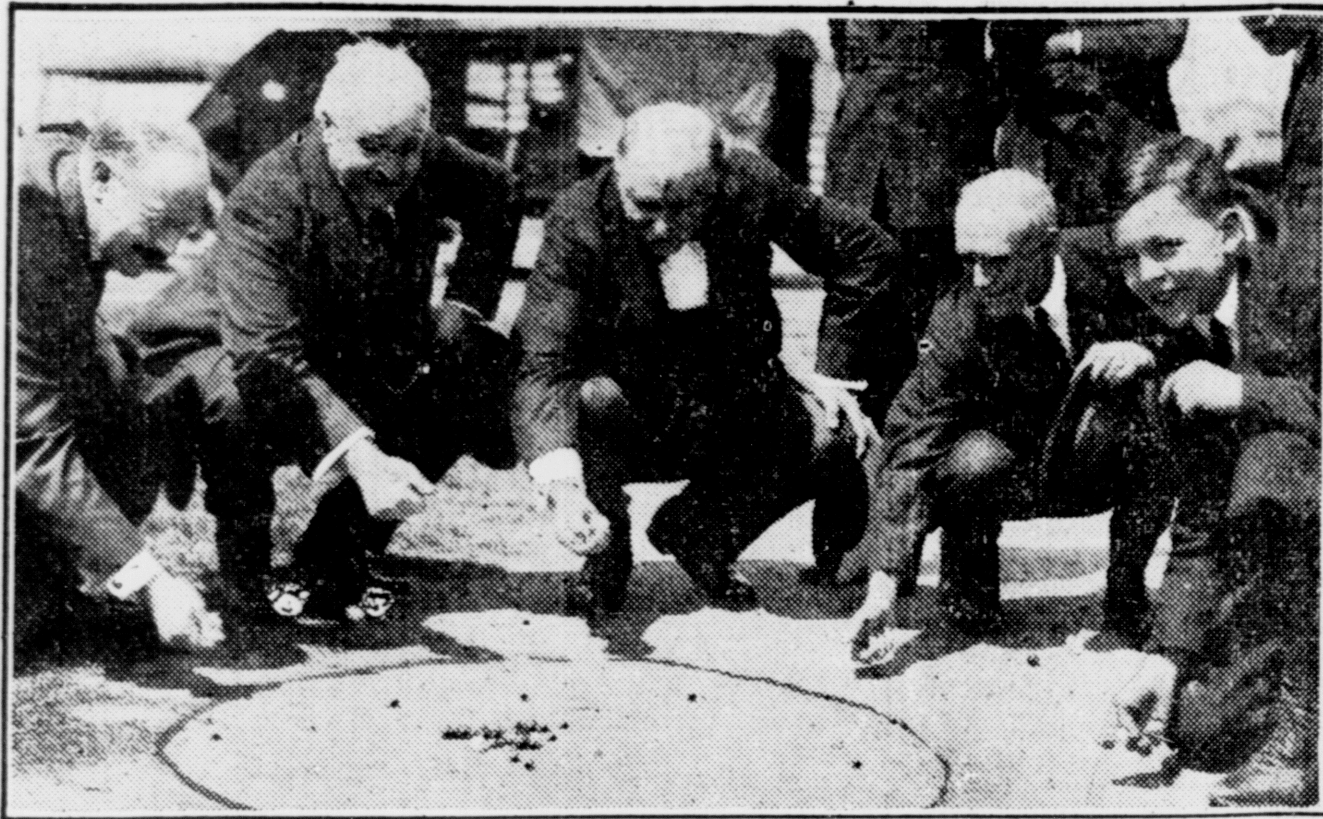

Everyone knows that this will be the supreme effort of the Ku Klux Klan to dominate the primary and nominate the candidates of its choice.

All thinking Republicans, who favor a fair and honest decision at the polls in determining the Party's Candidate, and who oppose the domination of the Party by an Organization, to the exclusion of all others, should not be guided by this marked ballot.

By consulting the marked ballot you will be able to learn what candidates have the endorsement of the Ku Klux Klan and you will thus be able to determine what candidates do not belong to this organization.

NEW COURSE OFFERED TO PURDUE STUDENTS

Training is Given in the Use and Interpretation of Agriculture Statistics

HOW TO READ THE MARKETS

Lafayette, Ind., May 3—A new course known as Agricultural Statistics and Prices has been offered to Juniors and Seniors in the School of Agriculture at Purdue University this year.

Training is given in the use and interpretation of agricultural statistics. At the present time a great deal of valuable information is available regarding production and market movement of crops and products and also much information relative to business conditions in industries other than farming.

The factors affecting the prices of agricultural products are studied, including cycles of high and low supply and high and low demand. The inter-relationship of the prices of various farm products and of city prosperity are studied.

Farmers, in the nature of their business, must attempt to forecast the future. Most farmers who are successful today are men who have learned to read the long time tendencies in the market and adjust their production to new conditions. Students in this course are trained with this in mind and are given practice in reading and forecasting the market.

BIG BUILDING BOOM

City is Busy Constructing New Factories, Houses and Improvements Survey Shows

3 MILLION TO BE SPENT

Bloomington, Ind., May 3—More than $3,000,000 is being spent on building now under construction in Bloomington, a survey of structures being started here indicates.

More money will be spent here this year for construction than in any city of Bloomington's size in the state, according to local business men.

The Showers Brothers furniture company has announced a building program of over $1,000,000.

The stadium for Indiana university, a men's and women's dormitory, and a house for Dr. William L. Bryan, president of the university, are projects nearing completion of planning to be built this year. This represents an investment of about $640,000.

Many residences and factories are being constructed this spring realtors report.

DYNAMITE CORNER OF JAIL

Alleged Bank Robbers Escape at Newton, Kansas

Newton, Kansas, May 3—Search was conducted throughout Western Kansas today for James A. Woodruff and Pat Carroll, charged with robbing the Walton State Bank of $140,000 who escaped by dynamiting a corner of the jail here.

The dynamite was smuggled into the jail by friends of the fugitives. An entire side of the building was wrecked. As the prisoners rushed to the waiting automobile, Deputy sheriffs took up the pursuit.

Officers are looking for Mrs. Ona Woodruff and James Reynolds who were released last week after having been arrested in connection with the bank robbery. No other prisoners escaped and none were hurt, although the explosion shook surrounding territory.

GINGS SCHOOL

Ging School closed last Friday afternoon after having school all day. Examinations were held on Monday and Tuesday and the grades indicated that the tests were not very difficult. Many patrons were present Friday afternoon for the musicale given by the school under the supervision of Mrs. Mills, supervisor in music. Several numbers were given by each group and grade in the school. Exhibits were displayed in the basement and a Roman bridge built by the high school boys was on display on the playground. Latin posters and art work was shown and also all the practical sewing done by the sophomore and junior domestic science class.

There was a tennis tournament held in the morning at ten o'clock and there were eighteen participants. Several sets were played with three games in a set. Joseph Custer and Clyde Gordon won the tournament and were pronounced the school champions.

BIBLE THOUGHT
FOR TODAY
 Bible Thoughts memorize, will prove a priceless heritage in after years.
 Be sure your sin will find you out.
 —Numbers 32:23.

Where Your Heart Is
 Where your heart is, there are your thoughts also.
 Where your heart is, your pocketbook may generally be found open.
 Where your heart is, you have nothing but an optimistic viewpoint.
 The plain course for every loyal citizen, then, is to place his heart in his home community and work for it and boost for it with all of his energy and ability.
 You can't be loyal to home and still think that some other place is a better place to live.
 You can't be loyal to the interests of Rush county and have your heart elsewhere.

You must be convinced in your own mind that the place where you live is the best place on earth to live else
 you will never be able to convince anyone else of the fact.
 To be convinced of the superiority
 of the place you call home, you must know all of its good points and all of its advantages.
 Only well informed citizens are good citizens and you can't honestly place yourself in that class until you get all of the knowledge that it is possible to acquire about Rush county.
 First get the facts. Then go out and tell others.

Our Problem, Too
 Oswald Ryan, a member of a commission headed by Secretary Davis
 of the president's cabinet which investigated the immigration question
 in Europe, says that the invasion of alien peoples is more deadly than the invasion of a hostile army.
 How many people had ever viewed
 the immigration problem from that standpoint?
 We of small and peaceful communities have never concerned ourselves about immigration. We always have felt that it was a question far removed from our lives and one which should occupy the attention of the large centers of population.
 Recent discussion of the question,
 since immigration legislation has been before congress, has made us realize that it is a question of grave

 import and great significance.
 Anything that threatens our spiritual as well as our political unity is a matter of concern to every American citizen.
 Restrictions on the stream of unassimilable races of southern Europe and Asia, that has been flowing into the United States for the past thirty years, now appears to be imperative.
 Courage on the part of our legislators is needed to do that which is best and not that which is most expedient, for the future of the country.

Hunt's Washington Letter

BY HARRY B. HUNT
 NEA Service Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Meet
 Dave Mulvane, the Strong
 Man from Kansas.
 Dave is the Hercules on whose shoulders has been loaded the task
 of getting everything in shipshape
 for the Republican convention at Cleveland, June 10.

Up to the minute the gavel falls,
 calling the 1109 delegates, the 1109
 alternates, the 500 correspondents,
 the 2000 "distinguished" guests,
 the 5000 favored spectators to "order." Dave, as chairman of the committee on arrangements, must shoulder the big burden of the
 G. O. P. show. But once the keynote sounds his keynote, Dave will slide out from under responsibility for the further proceedings and leave the ringmasters to
 "carry on."

A kindly-mannered, ruddy-faced,
 soft-spoken man of 61 is Mulvane,
 with rather bristling gray hair,
 pleasant eyes beaming from behind
 rimless glasses and an air of easy cordiality. He dropped into Washington for a final discussion of convention needs before proceeding to Cleveland to dig in on his job. He promised Chairman Adams to have everything shipshape for the arrival of national committee heads
 on June 1.

Mulvane, born in Illinois, now claims Topeka, Kas., as home. He practices law there, maintaining his offices, proudly, in the "Mulvane building." Despite his name,
 he's a Methodist.

THE pace of the Cleveland convention, up until after the nomination of Calvin Coolidge to succeed himself, it has been determined, will be a dignified and leisurely one. That is, barring any monkey-wrenches in the machinery
 by La Follette, Borah, Johnson and others who have been read out of the party by its conservative leadership.

Tuesday, June 10, will come the keynote—probably by Secretary of State Hughes—and the appointment of committees.

Wednesday, committee reports will be received and the platform nailed down.
 Not until Thursday, according to present schedule, will nominations be opened.

Even allowing adequate time for a proper Coolidge demonstration, it is believed the formalities of imposing Cal for the top of the ticket will be concluded in a sufficiently short time to allow the presentation of vice presidential nominations that same afternoon. Probably a test ballot will be taken on the vice presidential slate and the nomination might even be made, but that is more likely to go over until Friday morning.

"There's no need for hurrying the work of the convention," a member of the national committee, discussing the program, explains.
 "We want it to last at least three days. Cleveland wants a chance to entertain us and show us some Buckeye hospitality. Although the actual work of the convention doubtless could be accomplished in two days, the present expectation is that nominations will not be taken up until Thursday and the vice presidency not settled until Friday."

THE "official" picture of the Republican gathering in Cleveland, just before the keynote is sounded and delegates and decorations are still looking their best,
 will be made by Moffett of Chicago.
 Recognizing the growing importance of pictures, however, special facilities will be accorded photographers for newspapers and news agencies and special camera cars will be issued permitting cameras to be taken into the galleries and onto the floor. Flashlights inside the big hall, however, except for the "official" picture, will be barred.

Current Comment

A Good Man
 (Union City Times)

As the primary election draws near the Republicans are putting forth every effort to nominate a ticket in Indiana that the people of this state will have full confidence in voting for men who will carry out their best interests and at the same time look after their interests in handling the affairs of this state.
 Next to the Governor's office, no
 more important office is to be chosen than that of Secretary-of-State. It is through this office practically all of the business affairs of the state are handled and it takes a big man fully qualified to handle it, as he comes at all times in direct contact with the people.

The Times has endorsed Frederick
 E. Schortemeier for Secretary-of-State. This paper was the first Republican newspaper in the state to mention his name, and we carried his name to the Republican editorial meeting where two hundred and eighteen Republican editors of the state endorsed his candidacy and are now urging the "powers that be" to get behind him.

His name on the Republican ticket
 will be more to carry it to victory
 than probably any other candidate, not excepting that of Governor, for he is of that quality of a man who would make an excellent governor.

He has wide acquaintance over the state, his executive ability has been tried out and proven a success and as a diplomat has few equals in handling the many problems of state and national affairs that have confronted him in the past.

Fred Schortemeier is a self-made
 man, once a friend always a friend,
 and if the newspaper fraternity of this state is to be recognized by the Republican organization of the state,
 that organization must see to it that
 Mr. Schortemeier is placed on the state ticket as its candidate for Secretary-of-State and if this is done
 the battle of ballots is practically won as he will bring about harmony
 in the Republican ranks and cause a united front against the common enemy.

Endangers The Davis Cup

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, May 3—Injection of personalities by the United States Lawn Tennis Association into the controversy with William T. Tilden the national champion, has placed the United States in a position where it is seriously in danger of losing possession of the Davis Cup.

The Davis Cup is one of the most valuable trophies in the world of sport. It is emblematic of the world's tennis championship and, as has been pointed out in the past, it is the only trophy that really represents a championship of the whole world.

The Davis Cup strayed away from the United States several years ago, and it was brought back from Australia only after the United States had paid thousands of dollars to send teams across the world after it and after Bill Tilden and Bill Johnston had made the sacrifice of time that represented thousands of dollars to them to travel around and battle for the trophy.

To a nation that is inclined to boast of its prowess on athletic fields the Davis Cup means much. It is as much to be desired as the international polo cup and the American (yacht) Cup.

With Tilden available, the chance for any foreign nation to take the cup away from the United States this summer was very small. Without Tilden, the chance is very good. Tilden could be counted upon for two points in the challenge round and two points are a big start in a five-point match.

There is much in the controversy between the association and Tilden to make the public feel—"let's have no more of it." Tennis fans are interested chiefly in the playing of the game, and not in controversies about who is to run the game.

There is no doubt that the association felt it was doing something to preserve the game when it ruled that a player who engaged in literary work for a substantial compensation was not a real amateur at heart. There is also no reason to believe that Tilden feels that he is doing nothing wrong when he accepts a contract to write articles on and about tennis for newspaper publication.

The association, after hearing an appeal from Tilden for exception from the rule, stated, unofficially, that it could not grant him immunity from the rule.

Tilden then announced that only one course was open to him and that at the end of 1924 he would be forced to withdraw from amateur competition to pursue his literary work.

Rather graciously, Tilden offered his services for any purpose desired through the season of 1924 and then proceeded to go quietly about his business.

The argument should have stopped there without any more word. The association had told Tilden that he could not play and write, and Tilden answered by saying that he would respect the sovereignty of the association and that he would write and not play.

Instead of maintaining a dignified position, the amateur rules committee, which had handled the controversy, came out, through its chairman, Holcombe Ward, with a personal blast against Tilden, in face of which he could not remain silent.

Although there had been no personalities in the entire discussion, Ward broke out with an attack on Tilden in which, among other things, he accused the champion of being an "evil influence" on the game. This attack was entirely uncalled for and it served to arouse the belief that the association was not as sure of its ground as it would like to have it believed.

Tilden then announced that he was forced to resign from the Olympic and the Davis Cup teams. But he said he would play in the national championships.

The champion argued that as he had been told he would be declared a professional on Jan. 1, 1925, for doing something that he is now doing, that he is a professional now and not eligible for amateur competition.

He did not explain, however, why he did not feel himself qualified as an amateur in the Olympic and Davis Cup matches and yet could be an amateur for the national championships.

Tilden has always been regarded as a temperamental star and there is much of the artist and the ways of an artist in him, but before Ward came out with his blast it was not believed that there were any prima donnas in the membership of the executive council.

Having gone so far in the crusade against the player-writers it is not logical that the association should back down at this late date. If the association feels that it is fighting for the right and the just, it will have to stick to its ground and rule Tilden out of tennis unless he quits writing.

It would have been much better, however, for the association to have avoided personalities and to have left no impression that it was after any individual players.

ALUMNI BACK FOR PURDUE FESTIVITIES

University Begins Semi-Centennial Celebration With Group Dinners and Military Banquet

PURDUE UNIT INSPECTED

Lafayette, Ind., May 3—With the boom of howitzers and field guns, Purdue University began her semi-centennial celebration here.

About 400 alumni returned to their alma mater for the love feast and 150 delegates from other schools are present for the festivities.

The national inspection board, Lieut. Col. P. T. Hayne, member of the general staff; Lieut. Col. A. A. Maybach, U. S. coast artillery, and Lieut. Col. D. H. Biddle, cavalry, in charge of the R. O. T. C. of the 5th corps area, conducted the annual inspection of the Purdue unit.

Following the inspection, three battalions of artillery, one of 75 mm. guns, one of 3-inch guns and one of 155 mm. howitzers took the field and conducted a problem.

Festivities included a concert in the oval, group dinners for visiting delegates, a military banquet and the opening conference in Eliza Fowler hall.

OSCAR RATTS STILL STICKING TO SHIP

Paoli Man Holds Office as Member of Public Commission Despite Efforts to Oust Him

BRANCH AWAITS AN OPINION

Indianapolis, Ind., May 3—Oscar Ratts, of Paoli, still held his office at the state public service commission today despite efforts of Oscar B. Smith, of Knox, to oust him.

Smith, who was appointed by Former Governor McCray before the latter retired from office, attended the meeting of the commission yesterday but did not participate in the transaction of business.

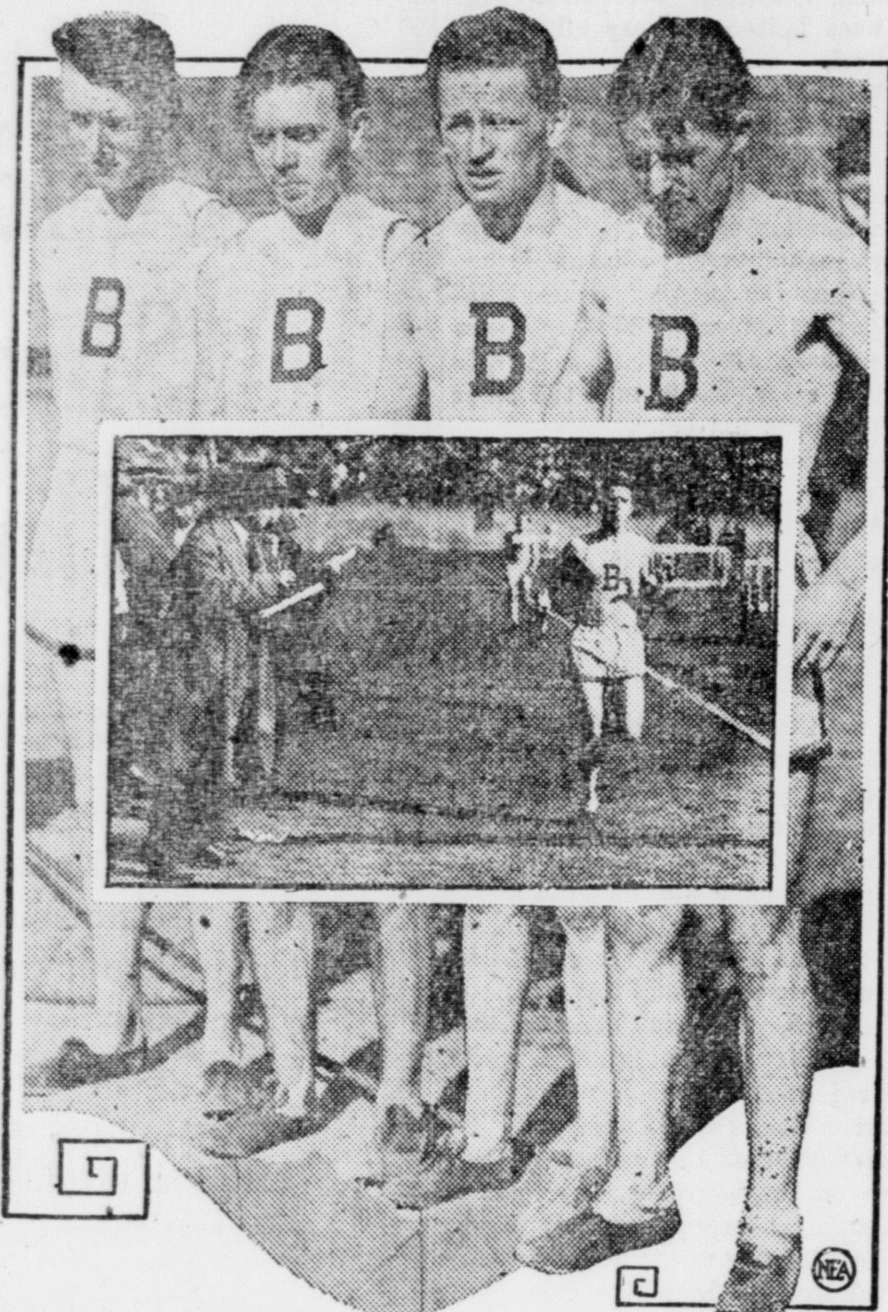

While it is known that Governor Branch holds Smith's appointment illegal, he is not going to take definite action until Attorney General Lesh has rendered an opinion.

In the meantime, Ratts is expected to continue in office. Orders issued by the commission yesterday bore Ratts's signature.

"tree" goes back to the thirteenth century, its branches having held the torches of many glittering achievements in Spain's political and military history—and to her daughter she has given a gracious background. And Carmelita's father is Tom Geraghty, who has two claims to fame—he wears the most weird and yet in-Paramount productions and a scenario writer of note, the other that he wears the most weird and yet intriguing neckties in Hollywood. Only an Irishman could get away with the ties that Tom Geraghty wears without a blush.

A child of fortune, indeed. The doors of California's Spanish social world are eager to receive her—and those doors are closed impenetrably to the new rich who haven't generations of tradition back of them. She has maids at her beck and call and a lovely home. It is a wonder that Carmelita has not been spoiled. On the contrary she is determined to rise or fall by her own efforts. She insists upon paying her mother board and buying her own clothes, and Mrs. Geraghty, being wise as well as gracious, permits her to do so.

Carmelita is clever. In her acting she has had as yet little opportunity to express her personality, but she has a little way of getting what she wants that is going to mean a great deal as she goes on. Still on the sunny side of twenty, naive, childish at times, she has bred in her that feminine allure of her Spanish ancestry, which serves to temper with discretion the do-it-or-die spirit of the Irish.

If the director wants a scene done one way and Carmelita, knowing what the girls of to-day would do in a certain situation though the wisest of directors sometimes don't, thinks it should be done another, she does not argue. Ah, no, not Carmelita. One killing glance from those big, brown baby-vamp eyes, the slurring cadences of that soft voice, "Of course you are right, you are so clever and know all about those things—but won't you, just this once, to please me, let me try it my way too?"

The director humors her—what man wouldn't with Carmelita focusing her batteries full upon him. The scene is shot both ways; and when both are viewed in the projection room, nine times out of ten her method wins.

"Mother couldn't see at first why I should want to work at anything, when I had all the money and clothes I needed or wanted," began Carmelita, lounging indolently against a pile of cushions, flashing brown eyes and expressive hands italicizing each word. "But, even while I was going to high school, I got tired of being called 'Tom Geraghty's daughter.'"

"Daddy wanted me to write, but I was crazy to act."

It is to her credit that she began as an extra, setting that firm little chin against her father's coaxing that she let him pull a string or two for her.

DOUBTS TWO-THIRDS RULE IS IN EXISTENCE

W. R. Hollister, Executive Secretary of Democratic National Committee is Investigating

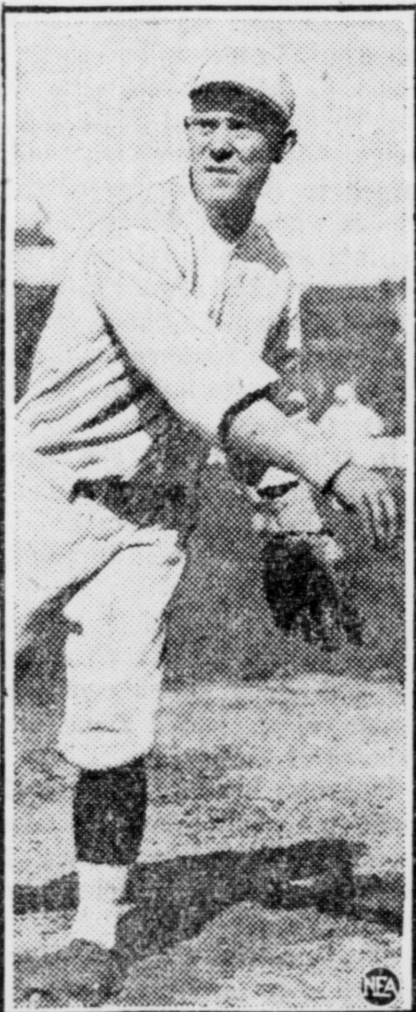

THINKS MAJORITY ENOUGH

Jefferson City, Mo., May 3—There is no such thing as a rule requiring a two-third majority of the Democratic national convention to nominate a presidential candidate at the present, and a majority will be necessary only if the convention adopts a rule requiring two-thirds, W. R. Hollister, executive secretary of the Democratic national committee from 1916 to 1920 contended today.

Hollister, an avowed McAdoo supporter, is a delegate to the national convention from the eighth district. He said he conducted researches through the proceedings of the 1920 convention at San Francisco and found that nothing was ever done to affirm the rules of the 1916 convention, which adopted a rule requiring two thirds. Consequently, Cox did not need the two thirds majority he received to be nominated, Hollister said.

Hollister advocates the abolishment of the two thirds "tradition" substituting a requirement for a majority vote only.

ever, makes a primary selection seem impossible.

With Senator Ralston unopposed in the Democratic presidential race and supporters of President Coolidge claiming the state for him by an overwhelming majority, the presidential primary race attracted relatively little attention in its final stages.

It is freely predicted that President Coolidge will win the Indiana delegation to the national convention by a popular vote of as much as seven to one over Hiram Johnson.

Coolidge men say the only question throughout the campaign has been how badly the President would whip Johnson in Indiana. Johnson's cancellation of all speaking dates scheduled for this week in the state put a crisp in plans of his managers to "Whoop-it-up" during the remainder of the campaign.

More attention is being given to local and legislative candidates as the day of election draws near.

Dora Winkler will give the current news; Mrs. Elsworth Kiser will give the bible questions and Mrs. George Winkler the bible study. All members are urged to be present and visitors are welcome.

On Wednesday evening, April 30, a number of neighbors and friends very quietly surprised Mrs. Elmer Kellam with a pitch-in supper, it being in honor of Mrs. Kellam's birthday. The evening was spent enjoyably with music and games. The following were present, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Waggoner, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. "Art in America" particularly relating to the drama, was the subject of the lecture by Prof. W. E. A number of guests were present for Mr. Jenkins' lecture, which was thoroughly enjoyed by his audience. This was the closing lecture of a series, which he has given before the Shakespeare club Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program.

Officers that have been elected for the following year are as follows: Mrs. Donald D. Ball, president; Miss Lois Fritter, vice-president; Miss Lena Buell, secretary, and Miss Mary Sleeth, chairman of the program committee.

The Elks Club rooms, beautifully decorated with floor lamps, ferns and spring flowers, with the color scheme of pink and white predominating, formed a most elaborate setting for the annual Junior-Senior reception held Friday evening. The members of the two classes of the Graham high school, the faculty and the school board were guests.

Upon the arrival of the guests, they were received in a reception room where a social time was enjoyed until the time arrived for the serving of the delicious three course banquet. Four ushers escorted them into the dance hall, where the cabaret dinner was served. The hall had been transformed into a beautiful dining room, the center of the room being used for the small cabaret tables and around the walls were placed beautiful floor lamps with their artistic shades which cast a soft glow over the banqueters. Intermingled among the lamps were large ferns which made the decorations appear more effective. The adornments for the tables carried out the color scheme of pink and white, the senior class colors. The even number of tables looked very pretty with their bud vases containing large pink roses, and the odd tables were arranged with candle sticks containing white candles with pink rose shades. Quaint pink and white Lolly-Pop dolls and miniature gum drop corages were given as favors. Their menu programs were especially attractive with the different items on the list corresponding with the names of some of the guests present.

Preceding the serving of the banquet, an orchestra from Richmond played a few selections and during each course of the banquet, they rendered musical numbers. Between the first and second course Miss Helen Jaehne, a member of the faculty, sang a group of three solos, two In-

SLEEVELESS AND SHORT - SLEEVED FROCKS IN VOGUE AGAIN THIS YEAR

By HEDDA HOYT
Fashion Editor of the United Press
(Written for United Press)

New York, May 3—In spite of last Summer's many controversies on the sleeveless frock, short-sleeved frocks remain in vogue. The frock of this season, however, is not as entirely sleeveless as last season's frock, which often displayed the entire shoulder, giving rather an "undressed" effect.

Palm Beach fashionables are sponsoring the gown that is cut with wide shoulder-line, covering the bone of the shoulder but leaving the entire arm bare. Most of the summer gowns of silk, crepe, voile, etc., use this wide shoulder effect, which is quite as cool as last season's model and a little less daring.

Many of the smart waistcoats designed to be worn under the suit this year are cut with the extended shoulder line and without sleeves. When the jacquette is removed they are quite as lovely as the blouse in effect. Sometimes fringed-end scarfs of the same material as the waistcoat are attached at the back neckline to give a finished appearance to the garment when the coat is removed. A stunning waistcoat of this type is made of henna-colored silk crepe and embroidered in navy blue and gold. This is fashioned very much like the gentleman's vest, being cut with the V-shaped neck, buttoning down the front and terminating in points below the normal waistline. Pockets are embroidered in the colors I have mentioned and the entire border is outlined in color. The self-toned scarf is fringed on the ends and embroidered.

SCARF STILL POPULAR

It looks as though we'll be tied by the throat until we are dead, dead, dead! Or, until the scarf is dead. Scarfs are as individual as tooth brushes, it would seem. Every frock, suit or wrap must have a scarf of its very own. Sizes range from small bed-sheet widths to four-inch widths. And colors are rampant. "By our scarfs ye shall know us" declare the younger misses as they drape gaudy plaid homespuns about their slender throats. Older women prefer the scarf that is an accompaniment to the gown, being of the same shade and attached to the gown rather than the separate, blatant effects. And for the really elderly lady there are some lovely shawl-scarfs of soft-pleated chiffon that are adorable. Some of these are made in pinafore effect, with tiny ruffles of pleated chiffon. These come in black, amethyst and cream shades.

A BUTTON SEASON

"Button, button, who's got the button" is the favorite game of the designer these days. Buttons of every size and description are being used on the Spring frocks. Little respect is paid to the button-hole, however, as the button of this season is entirely divorced from the button-hole, being only an adornment. Buttons are used to trim pocket tops, seams, hems, to form clusters of flowers, as hat trimmings, and in fact, wherever Madame Modiste sees fit to place trimming she grabs the button bag. She uses buttons of crystal, wood, cut-steel, colored glass, pearl, rhinestone, ivory, jet—anything, just so it is a button!

SAILOR HATS

The mannish sailor hat of straw is again coming into vogue, if we may believe the millinery wholesalers, who claim that the tailored vogue demands the trim sailor hat. Those that I have seen are trimmed in scarfs of vivid color, which take the place of the ribbon hat band.

These scarfs wrap artfully about the crown, extending almost the height of the crown, and the ends are concealed under the folds. Several of these models have neck-scarfs to match, and one can imagine how well this combination would look with the boyish suit.

COLORED SHOES

That women "are children at heart" is proven by the return of the bright-colored shoe. At the end of the last Summer we believed that the colored shoe was as dead as the proverbial door nail. Colored shoes had become common-place and better groomed women would have none of them. Now, as Spring returns, they are re-entering the fashion world. Colored suede is much newer and smarter than colored kid, and the colored shoe of this season is to be worn on the ballroom floor—not on the streets! Several of the younger women dancing at the popular Palais Royal Restaurant last evening wore suede slippers in colors such as orange, red, light blue and gray, trimmed in rhinestone buckles. While suede doesn't seem the proper leather for evening wear, it is being worn by the smartly gowned women. Stockings worn with the colored shoe are invariably flesh or peach-toned.

ers the importance of the home upon the child. She said the home must be quiet and not a place for family quarrels, for they have such an influence upon the child. The problem of womanhood was brought up in connection with this subject and in discussing this phase of the subject, she said that womanhood meant self-control and not easily discouraged, easy to give up, and ready to lose self-control of herself.

Three poems were read by Mrs. Pittenger at the conclusion of her talk which dealt with child life and the Federation work. "The federation wants to be able to count on you to stand up for it and whenever an emergency arises expects you to be able to assist," the state leader said in closing.

Mrs. Hamet D. Hinkle, the first vice-president of the Indiana Federated Clubs, of Vincennes, was also present and made a short address, explaining the Universal membership campaign, and urging that this district become a member.

It is the plan that every club shall not only be state federated but generally federated with the international federation, which also means the adequate financing of all federated clubs, including county, district, state and general federated clubs.

Instead of paying dues to your own club, to your county organization, to the district and to the state, every woman in the club shall pay 50 cents per year as federation dues. The first 25 cents will go to the state treasury, the next ten cents will be sent to the general federated woman's club, the next ten cents returned to the treasurer of the district in which the club is located and the last five cents returned to the treasurer of the county in which the club is located. This plan would furnish adequate finances for the carrying on of the work of the federated clubs in general.

In closing her talk, she mentioned the buying of national headquarters for the Federated Clubs at Washington. Indiana agreed to pay $5,000 on the building and at the present time only about half of this pledge is raised. She made a plea that all the ladies pay in ten cents on this pledge which would make up the balance of the pledge.

Following her talk, reports of the auditing committee and the treasurer were heard and the election of the officers took place. A splendid crowd attended the sessions.

The morning session was taken up mostly with business, including the appointment of committees and reports of county chairmen. Mrs. E. C. Rumpel of Indianapolis, the general federation director, gave a short talk. At the afternoon session Miss Charlotte Norris sang a beautiful solo.

Guests at the convention warmly praised the social features of the

Let's Give Control of the County and State to

Candidates that Have Sincere, Honest and Upright Intentions

Watch for the Marked Ballots

When politicians will resort to unprincipled methods to win votes they are not entitled to the support of right thinking citizens. Ed Jackson, the avowed Ku Klux candidate for Governor of Indiana, was represented in this county Thursday of this week by a COLORED MAN, who said his name was William Hockett of Indianapolis, who tried to explain to the colored voters what Ed Jackson would do for the colored people of the state if he was elected their Governor.

Right Thinking people KNOW what the Ku Klux will do for the colored people and when any politician tries to win at any cost of principle, it seems that the people of our good County and State should realize that politicians of this sort have other principles that they will sell out to win POWER and CONTROL.

Let's Not Be Controlled By Unprincipled Officers

Biennial Convention of General Federation of Women's Clubs to be Held at Los Angeles

ENDORSE MOVIE CENSORSHIP

Women Have on Their Program A Visit to Hollywood and Studios Movie Stars on Program

(By United Press)

Washington, May 3—What will the women of the United States do about the movie censorship? promises to be a live subject at the coming biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at Los Angeles June 2-13.

The federation has endorsed State censorship, but not Federal censorship—but has not pushed the subject.

The women have on their Los Angeles program a visit to Hollywood and the studios. Certain movie stars of spotless reputations—will appear on the program, and certain hostesses will be tendered the ladies, none of which will be of the character featured in the daily paper crime columns.

At the Hot Springs biennial convention in 1918 a resolution, introduced by Mrs. A. H. Finn of Detroit, was adopted and has never been rescinded. It read:

"That the General Federation recommend that women in the various States use all possible effort toward extending the area which is protected by law from the influence of harmful films, inducing the Legislature of States aside from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kansas and Maryland (where legal censorship then existed) to enact laws similar to the motion picture censorship laws of those States, Governors to appoint suitable men and women to administer these laws, and in general to make and strengthen public opinion so that there may be authority at hand to cope with an evil which so seriously threatens the proper foundation of society."

At the Chautauqua Federation Convention in 1922 the motion picture chairman from a number of states were all primed to launch an active campaign for censorship. But Will Hays took a hand and convinced the ladies that, since he had assumed the exordium of movie land, no one need bother about the censorship. So that matter was dropped.

It is understood in Federation circles here that the present temper of the women indicates practical certainty that the censorship will come up again and a big fight made. Mrs. Finn, the author of the 1918 resolution, says that the work of Mrs. Harry Lilly of New York, motion picture chairman succeeding Mrs. Woodallen Chapman, appointed immediately after the Federation's resolution for censorship in Hot Springs, "has not worked in the interest of the resolution, but in the interest of the motion picture people." This, she says, "is a serious matter."

The Finn faction is now ready, it is stated, to make a fight for Federal supervision in the shape of a bill for the regulation of motion pictures in interstate commerce, along the line of the Upsham bill, introduced by the National Motion Picture Conference held in Washington in February, and introduced

How's Your Appetite?
Are You Nervous?
Do You Cough?

Bedford, Ind.—I had the 'flu' and it almost got the best of me. It left me in a very weak, nervous condition. I had no appetite and was so weak it was all I could do to walk across the room; I also had an awful cough. I tried several different medicines and a good doctor also, but was getting weaker every day. At last I decided to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and I can truthfully say that it has done me more good than any other medicine I have ever taken. The third day after I began taking it I was hungry. My appetite is now very good, and I am able to do my housework. —Mrs. Mary E. Casada, 309 North M Street.

REHEARSAL, RETAKE, RECUT ARE THREE "R'S" OF SILVER SCREEN

By HAROLD E. SWISHER
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Hollywood, May 3—There are three "R's" in the little red school house, fabled in song and memory, those three "R's" are famous the nation over: "Reading," "riting" and "rith-metic."

There are three "R's" in studio-land, as well; not so well known, perhaps, but of vital importance in picture production. They are the "re-hearsal, the retake and the re-cut."

"Just as 'reading' 'riting' and 'rith-metic' are the basis of education, so the rehearsal, the retake and the re-cut are the basis of perfection in motion pictures," according to Herbert Brenon, well known Paramount producer.

"Although motion pictures are the very essence of human drama, yet when they arrive before the public they have been perfected so that the human element is entirely eliminated. No matter how skilled may be the players who engage in a stage production, there is always the possibility that some unforeseen circumstance may arise which may ruin the performance. In motion pictures, this is an impossibility. The rehearsal, the retake and the re-cut completely remove the chance of failure."

"Motion picture players enjoy this unique advantage among professional performers," Brenon says. "The projection room is also an incalculable advantage to the director. He sees how far each scene will go toward creating the impression he desires for the whole, and can correct errors or improve shortcomings. Then, when the picture is finished, the projection room makes it possible for him to cut and re-cut his film until he achieves a smooth running picture. The finished product which appears before the eye of the spectator moves to its appointed climax with the certainty of the inevitable.

"All the old time terrors which haunt legitimate actors—misses cues, forgotten lines, false notes or stage accidents—are unknown in motion pictures."

American women are the best dressed women in the world, regardless of the fact that Paris turns out the most beautiful gowns, according to Claire Windsor, Goldwyn player, who recently returned from the French capital.

"Apparently they make them for Americans, for you can find more beautifully dressed women here in one afternoon than you can in Paris in a week," Miss Windsor said.

"Every dressmaker's shop in Paris is filled with American women, and men, too, for they seem to enjoy the shopping. And, by the way, it does my heart good to see lots of American men again. Europeans can't touch them."

Francis X. Bushman has cabled friends that he has reached Seville on his way to Rome to enact the role of Messala in "Ben Hur". He said the weather was fine in Spain, although quite cold, and bullfighting is rotten sport. The actor and his sister, Miss Bernadette Bushman, are touring Europe before he begins work.

Eight years ago Stuart Holmes bought a few acres of ranch land a short distance from San Francisco. He bought the land for a song, and was in vogue at the time, and could sing.

Holmes says he has paid more taxes on the property during the time than it cost him, and during the period never had an offer from a prospective purchaser.

Recently, Holmes took an automobile trip to San Francisco and discovered a huge oil storage tank on the property adjoining his land. The next day he had a sign erected on his acreage. It read: "Here is the future home of the N. G. Powder Company."

Within a few hours, Holmes declares, he had frantic bids for the property and made a satisfactory and profitable sale.

With the addition of Victory Bateman to the cast of "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," Marshall Neilan has filled all of the most important roles in the Thomas Hardy story. Miss Bateman is a well known legitimate stage star of over a decade ago.

The foot and mouth disease recently raging in California is nothing new, says Carey Wilson, Goldwyn associate editor.

Some years ago," says Wilson, "I had a girl who was afflicted by it. She wanted to eat all the time and wouldn't walk a step."

May Not Build Lake Road

Saryseuse, Ind., May 3—Damages totaling $9,500 are demanded by persons owning property along the proposed route of the Wapasee-lake shore road, with the prospect that the commissioners of Kosciusko county will abandon the proposed improvement of the highway.

If the road is to be properly constructed private land must be taken to eliminate dangerous curves and to shorten the highway.

Some farmers are asking as much as $2,500 for strips through their properties.

PUPIL FROM CHINA AIDS IN ENDOWMENT

Grace Chu, Student at Western College, Assists Ably in Campaign for Finances

LOCAL GIRLS HAVE PART

Miss Grace Chu, a student from China, is doing her share in working for the million dollar endowment campaign at Western College, Oxford, Ohio. On Friday evening, May 3, Miss Chu, a native costume recited Chinese poetry. This is a survival of the custom in the times of the old scops and gleemen.

Miss Chu is the niece of Hsiung Hsi Ling, premier of China during the first republic. Her uncle is interested in establishing orphanages. Her aunt is starting schools, creating an opportunity for the poor class of people, especially the women, to gain an education.

Miss Chu is very talented, being able to sing, to play several Chinese musical instruments, to draw and to paint with great skill. Since coming to Western she has written Chinese poems in memory books, made place cards, and prepared Chinese foods for the endowment.

After Miss Chu finishes her four years at Western she will return to China to help her aunt and uncle in their work.

The Misses Elsie George and Kathryn Wilson of this city, who are attending Western College, are both enthusiastically helping in the campaign.

SUFFERED SINCE YOUNG GIRL

Words Failed to Express Benefit Received from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Greenville, Texas. — "Words cannot express how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. Every month I would have cramps and headache, and I felt like I was freezing to death. I suffered in this way from the time I was a young girl, and all the doctors said was 'operation.' For months I had a tired, sleepy feeling all day, and when night would come I would be so nervous I couldn't stay in bed. Our druggist recommended the Vegetable Compound to my husband and he bought four bottles. I have taken every one and I think I have a right to praise your medicine." — Mrs. J. B. HOLLEMAN, 2214 E. Marshall Street, Greenville, Texas.

For fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been used by women from girlhood through middle age.

It is a dependable medicine for troubles common to women. Such symptoms as Mrs. Holleman had are relieved by correcting the cause of the trouble. For sale by druggists everywhere.

MRS. CORA SAXON IS NEW CHAIRMAN

Falmouth Woman is Elected Head
of Federated Clubs of District
at Closing Session

STATE PRESIDENT SPEAKS

Mrs. O. M. Pittenger of Indianapolis
Discusses Phases of Federation
Work in Short Talk

At the closing session of the Seventeenth annual convention of the Federated Clubs of the Sixth District held at the Graham Annex auditorium Friday afternoon, the various committee chairmen gave splendid reports and other business, including the election of officers, was transacted.

Mrs. Cora Saxon of Falmouth was chosen as chairman of this district, Mrs. Roscoe C. O'Byrne of Brookville as vice-chairman and Mrs. Don Early of Greenfield as secretary-treasurer. Resolutions were also read and adopted and the treasurer gave a report.

It was decided that the next annual meeting will be held in Connersville next May.

Mrs. O. M. Pittenger of Indianapolis, the state federation president, was present for the afternoon session, and gave a short but splendid address. In beginning her talk she praised the reports of the different committees, showing the work they have been doing and urged them to push forward and try to make their work for the following year reach a higher level.

She also stated that it was the plan of the federation to make it a cooperative organization; to have all the members work together and cooperate in their various works, which will in the end bring success. She urged them to push forward and make their work better. That is why we undertake to do all the hard work that has been outlined for the members of the federated clubs, Mrs. Pittenger declared.

Emphasizing the need of power among the clubs, the state president urged the ladies to get their minds on what they need and then come together for the district meetings to discuss these needs, and through their power should realize their wants. She also urged them to come to the state convention for their inspirations.

She also brought up the question of junior membership. In explaining this point, Mrs. Pittenger said, that the girls were to come into the federation as associate members, to go with their mothers and learn their ways and become a part of the organization.

In closing her talk, she brought up her pet subject, child life. The report of the child welfare committee was excellent, the state president said and she sought to impress upon the mothers.

NEW COURT TERM WILL GET UNDERWAY MONDAY

First Regular Case Set for Next Thursday When Taylor and Newman Will be Tried

CALENDAR NOT COMPLETED

The May term of court convenes on Monday, when the issues and making of the docket will come before Judge Sparks, and plans will be outlined for the few weeks before the summer adjournment.

The court calendar has not been made for the first few weeks, and will probably be arranged after Monday when the issues are taken up by the court.

The second day of the new term will be in recess on Tuesday on account of the primary election, and no business will be transacted.

One case has been definitely set on the calendar for the first week, which is the case involving Donald Newman and Chester Taylor, charged with violating the liquor laws. These two men have been in jail since their arrest several weeks ago on a grand jury indictment. The case will begin Thursday before special Judge Freeman Miller of Franklin, and it will be the first call for the jury in the new term.

600 CHICKENS LOST IN FIRE

Brooder Belonging to Mrs. Edward
Carson Near Raleigh Burns

Six hundred young chickens were consumed in a fire that destroyed a chicken brooder belonging to Mrs. Edward Carson, living south of Raleigh, on the Ed Chambers farm.

The loss was estimated at more than $200 as two hundred of the chickens were fries.

Several chicken brooders have been destroyed by fire this spring and warnings have been repeatedly issued about the danger of fire because brooders are constructed of flimsy material.

RURAL CARRIERS TO GET FIGURES

Mail Men Will Obtain Harvest Ac-
creage Statistics From Each Farmer That He Serves

MAY BE ANNUAL AFFAIR

Plan of Department of Agriculture is Approved by Postmaster General
H. S. New

A new service for the rural route carriers in Rush county will be founded this summer by the government, according to a bulletin issued by the U. S. department of agriculture and approved by Harry S. New, Postmaster general. The carriers are to provide the department with the harvest acreage figures obtained from the farmers who are served on their routes.

If the plan is successful this fall, it will be followed each year, and accordingly 44,000 carriers all over the nation next September will distribute and collect cards from more than 700,000 farmers, on which will be shown the acreage harvested or to be harvested on individual farms.

This method of obtaining crop information will afford a better basis than ever before for making accurate acreage estimates, declares W. F. Callendar in charge of crop estimating work in the Department of Agriculture. Heretofore, the department has mailed out each fall approximately 150,000 schedules to individual farmers, and the number of replies were considerably less representative of the country as a whole than will be the farms reported on under the new system. It is expected under the rural mail carrier plan that nearly a 10 percent sample of all the farms in the United States can be obtained. This large sample of typical farms will be used in estimating total acreage figures for all farms.

Utilization of rural mail carriers in this work is one of the practical examples of economy being practiced by the department and is made possible through the efficiency with which rural carriers have been collecting figures on births, deaths, and numbers of pigs on farms. The so-called pig census has been hailed as one of the really progressive steps in agricultural economics, and it is felt that even better results can be obtained under the new acreage plan. The regular agricultural census by the Census Bureau is also to be made this year and when the figures are available the Department of Agriculture will have an excellent check on the accuracy of the sample method of calculating acreage. By reason of new statistical methods adopted by the department the Government statisticians feel that slight if any difference between the acreage estimate based on the sample data and the census figures will be shown.

Would Rather Act Than Write; Heart And Soul Is In Movies

Carmelita Geraghty, of Hollywood Fame, and Born in Rushville, is Pointed to as the Child of Fortune. In Magazine Review, She Says "Daddy Wanted Me to Write, But I Was Crazy to Act."

Carmelita Geraghty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom J. Geraghty, formerly of this city, is pointed to as the child of fortune, in an article appearing in the current issue of the "Picture Play Magazine", in which the former local girl is given a full page, with a large size photograph.

Miss Geraghty was born in this city, and lived here with her parents, until they moved, and she has frequently visited relatives here. They now reside in Hollywood, where Mr. Geraghty is associated in the motion picture business.

The magazine account of the motion picture actress is as follows: Recipe for one very intriguing personality:

The commencement last night was the fourth for the week, and only a few more remain, with New Salem being next on the school calendar. The exercises are scheduled for Tuesday night at the school auditorium, and with the address being delivered by the Rev. Mr. Brown.

Carthage and Rushville commencements will conclude the season with exercises on May 16 and May 23, respectively.

NEW HEALTH LAWS WILL BE ENFORCED

Public Eating Places Must Exhibit
Sign if They Use Oleomargarine
Instead of Butter

MUST BE ON THE MENUES

Other New Laws Set Standards for Bread, And Regulates Dairymen
In Butter Business

Restaurants in all Indiana cities must comply with a new law regarding the use of oleomargarine as a butter substitute, according to word received by county officials, in which several new rules are set out by the state board of health.

The rules became effective Thursday and local officers will be checked up by state inspectors soon, who are starting out over the state seeing if the orders are complied with.

One of the new orders is of interest to bakeries, for it fixes the standards for bread. Another concerns dairymen, for it relates to butter and the process of making. Another of the new laws has reference to pollution of lakes in Indiana by sewage and domestic waste, and a fourth one regulates the serving of butter substitutes in public eating houses.

This law provides that "every person, firm or corporation, conducting any hotel, dining room, restaurant, lunch room, public or private boarding house, dining room, or any other public eating place, where oleomargarine, butterine, or other butter substitute is served, shall print in plain English in a conspicuous place on the bill of fare or menu, the words "Oleomargarine Served Here", and shall display signs bearing the words, "Oleomargarine Served Here" on at least two sides of the room in such manner that they may be easily and readily seen and read from all tables and counters on which food is served.

"The type in which the legend 'Oleomargarine Served Here' is printed shall not be less conspicuous or smaller in size than that used in the remainder of the bill of fare or menu. Display signs shall bear only the legend 'Oleomargarine Served Here' and the word 'Oleomargarine' shall be printed in bold-face black Gothic type not less than two inches high. If margarine composed of vegetable fats, and commonly known as 'Nut Margarine' is served, the words 'Nut Margarine' in the same size and character of type, may be substituted for the word 'Oleomargarine' on the menu and the display signs."

NO TRACE OF MAJOR MARTIN

All Efforts to Locate Flight Com-
mander Are Futile

Bremerton, Wash., May 3—Northern radio stations reported today that despite a thorough search made along the Alaska coast line from Chignik toward Dutch Harbor, no trace has been found of Major Frederick L. Martin, commander of the American round the world flight squadron.

Fears were expressed that Major Martin and his mechanic, Sergeant Alva Harvey, who have not been heard from since Wednesday when they took off from Chignik in a blinding snow storm, are short of food and suffering severely from exposure even if they were fortunate enough to land safely.

Every inlet, cove and bay along the coast was being scoured by government vessels in the hope that the daring aviators might still be found.

TAX RATE BATTLE IN FINAL STAGE

Mellon Plan Supporters Bring Question of Surtaxes Before The Senate Today

HOW THE FACTIONS STAND

Proposals For Surtax Range From 25
to 50 Per Cent—Odds Favor 40
Per Cent Scale

By PAUL R. MALLON
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Washington, May 3—The tax rate battle that will determine what every one will have to pay the government next year entered its final stage today.

Mellon plan supporters brought the question of surtaxes—the keystone of their plan—before the senate for action.

Only three important points remain to be acted upon—income rates, corporation taxes and the inheritance levy. As the oratorical contest was resumed, here is how the various factions stood:

The Mellon plan adherents were ready to compromise on a maximum surtax rate higher than 25 percent. They are said to be willing to go as high as 35 percent.

The Democrats had a graduated scale which runs up to forty percent on big incomes.

One group of progressives wanted fifty percent as a maximum but their chances looked slim.

Senator Medill McCormick had a graduated scale scheme that ran up to 37 percent. (The house passed a 33 1/3 percent provision)

The odds, however, favored the Democratic rate of forty percent. Similarly the Democrats seemed to have the edge on the normal tax rate on small incomes with their two and four percent provision. The Republicans were standing for 3 and 6 percent and said they would refuse to compromise.

Regarding the corporation and inheritance taxes, the lines seemed about evenly divided.

FRATERNITY HOUSE BURNS

Fire Causes Loss of $25,000 at Indiana University

Bloomington, Ind., May 3—Fire early today destroyed the Delta Upsilon fraternity house here. Loss is estimated at $25,000.

No one was in the building, the 24 members of the fraternity having left yesterday to spend the weekend at their homes.

A defective gas heater is believed to have caused the fire.

FINAL APPEALS MADE IN PRIMARY

Campaigns Practically come to Close
Today. With Vote Scheduled For
Next Tuesday

INSPECTORS GET SUPPLIES

Spectacular Features Lacking in Campaign Due to Absence of Contest For President

With the pre-primary campaign practically over, final preparations were being made today for the election next Tuesday, when political parties will nominate their county and district candidates for the election next fall, and will express their preference for governor and president.

All state candidates, with the exception of governor, are nominated in convention and it is expected that the candidates for governor also will be nominated in convention, because the primary law provides that the gubernatorial nominee shall receive a majority of all votes cast.

Precinct inspectors called at the clerk's office in the court house today for their supplies and everything will be in readiness next Tuesday for the vote to be cast.

Although an exceptionally quiet campaign, it has begun to "warm up" the past few days locally, as candidates for county offices have been making their last-minute canvass for votes.

Much of the spectacular has been lacking because no contest has been indulged in by presidential candidates for the state delegation to national conventions, which has provided spectacular features in past primary campaigns.

Although it is greatly conceded that there will be no nomination in the primary of a candidate for governor on either the republican or democratic tickets, the leading candidates on each side have redoubled their efforts during the past week to capture enough votes to put them across.

Ed Toner, Ed Jackson and Lew Shank, the three republican candidates believed to have the edge in the race, have made extensive speaking engagements this week.

Jackson and Shank rallies were held in Indianapolis during the week, while Toner will close his campaign in the twelfth district.

Ed Bush, also had several speaking dates, but Major Davis of Terre Haute confined himself to organization work.

On the democratic side, Dr. Carleton B. McCulloch, party nominee four years ago, is believed to have a slight advantage, with Joseph Cravens and Dale Crittenger following close seconds. Mr. Cravens was to speak here this afternoon.

TO CELEBRATE J. W. CRONIN ANNIVERSARY

Members of St. Mary's Catholic
Church of Richmond to Honor

Elaborate arrangements are being made by members of St. Mary's Catholic church of Richmond to celebrate the silver jubilee anniversary of Father Walter J. Cronin's ordination into the priesthood, according to Richmond newspapers.

Father Cronin has been in charge of the church there since April, 1912, going to Richmond from Rushville when in 1906 he was appointed pastor of the Catholic church.

Father Cronin's twenty-five anniversary as a priest will come May 25, as he was ordained by Bishop Silas Chartand on May 25, 1899.

In addition to the celebration of Father Cronin's anniversary, the church is planning to celebrate the dedication of a new marble altar, which is soon to be erected at a cost of $15,000. Work in preparation for the new altar is already being done.

Other improvements which are being made or have already been made to the church include a tile floor throughout the interior of the church and a completely changed lighting system.

PENSION BILL TO COOLIDGE

President Has Until Midnight, May 7, to Veto It

Washington, May 3—The Bureau bill increasing pensions for veterans of all wars except the world war, and all veterans' widows was placed before President Coolidge for his veto or approval Friday.

Director of the Budget Lord gave the bill to the president following a study that Mr. Coolidge requested, to determine the effect of the measure on the public finances. The president already had received a report on the bill from the pension office.

Mr. Coolidge has until midnight, May 7, to sign or veto it.

Have You Seen It?

The West in 1876. Who could tell of it better than Zane Grey? Who could bring it to the screen to finer advantage than Paramount?

The Zane Grey novel, "The Heritage of the Desert," published about five years ago and still at the height of its popularity brought this all to the screen at the Princess theatre last night where it remained today. Bebe Daniels, Ernest Torrance, Noah Beery and Lloyd Hughes are featured. Irvin Willat directed. It's a story of a fight for irrigation waters—and what a fight it is! All red-blooded Americans will revel in it.

Youth Has Lead

"Grit," the Castle theatre's offering this week, is what may be termed a perfect combination of youth. In the first place, F. Scott Fitzgerald wrote the story, and no writer has a more penetrating understanding of youth or the faculty for drawing a clearer picture of it than he has. Second, Glenn Hunter is the star. No actor on either stage or screen today can make youth and its problems so real. It is not surprising then that an excellent picture is the result of this ideal combination of youth.

That is exactly what grit is—an excellent picture. The story combines a thrilling tale of the Underworld and a tender romance of young love. It is the chronicle of an East Side boy's attempt to break away from the gang of crooks who have brought him up and of the inspiration of a girl who was once a thief herself.

Glenn Hunter makes the problems of "Kid Hart" seem very real and Clara Bow is excellent as Orchid McConigle, the girl who awakens the "Kid" to a realization of his cowardice.

SLEEPLESSNESS

Virginia Lady Says That Many of Her Long-Suffered Ills Have Fled Since She Took Cardui.

Bristol, Va.—"I can sleep good at night now, something I have never done before in my life," says Mrs. Deala Hawks, of 712 Prospect St., this city, "and it is due to Cardui."

"I was always nervous and tossed when I should have been asleep, but since I took Cardui it has strengthened me, and my general health is so improved that many of the ills from which I have suffered for years have fled."

"I used to go to bed tired and, when I would get up in the morning, I was still tired. Now I feel like doing a day's work in my garden or in the house, and I owe all this good health to Cardui, for I had suffered for years until I took it."

"I had had female trouble for years and once, for six months, I was flat on my back. I am glad to recommend to other women a medicine which has helped me."

If you are nervous and run-down in health, suffering as Mrs. Hawks describes above, it is probable that Cardui will greatly help you. Try it.

Watch for the Marked Ballots

Rush County voters will probably find, as in past campaigns, on their doorsteps the morning of the Primary Election a carefully marked ballot, directing them how to vote.

Everyone knows that this will be the supreme effort of the Ku Klux Klan to dominate the primary and nominate the candidates of its choice.

All thinking Republicans, who favor a fair and honest decision at the polls in determining the Party's Candidate, and who oppose the domination of the Party by an Organization, to the exclusion of all others, should not be guided by this marked ballot.

By consulting the marked ballot you will be able to learn what candidates have the endorsement of the Ku Klux Klan and you will thus be able to determine what candidates do not belong to this organization.

NEW COURSE OFFERED TO PURDUE STUDENTS

Training is Given in the Use and Interpretation of Agriculture Statistics

HOW TO READ THE MARKETS

Lafayette, Ind., May 3—A new course known as Agricultural Statistics and Prices has been offered to Juniors and Seniors in the School of Agriculture at Purdue University this year.

Training is given in the use and interpretation of agricultural statistics. At the present time a great deal of valuable information is available regarding production and market movement of crops and products and also much information relative to business conditions in industries other than farming.

The factors affecting the prices of agricultural products are studied, including cycles of high and low supply and high and low demand. The inter-relationship of the prices of various farm products and of city prosperity are studied.

Farmers, in the nature of their business, must attempt to forecast the future. Most farmers who are successful today are men who have learned to read the long time tendencies in the market and adjust their production to new conditions. Students in this course are trained with this in mind and are given practice in reading and forecasting the market.

Officers are looking for Mrs. Ona Woodruff and James Reynolds who were released last week after having been arrested in connection with the bank robbery. No other prisoners escaped and none were hurt, although the explosion shook surrounding territory.

BIBLE THOUGHT
—FOR TODAY—
Bible thoughts, which will prove a precious heritage in after years.
Be sure your sin will find you out.
—Numbers 32:23.

Where Your Heart Is
Where your heart is, there are
your thoughts also.
Where your heart is, your pocket-
book may generally be found open.
Where your heart is, you have nothing but an optimistic viewpoint.
The plain course for every loyal citizen, then, is to place his heart in his home community and work for it
and boost for it with all of his energy and ability.
You can't be loyal to home and
still think that some other place is a better place to live.
You can't be loyal to the interests of Rush county and have your heart
elsewhere.
You must be convinced in your own mind that the place where you live is
the best place on earth to live else
you will never be able to convince anyone else of the fact.
To be convinced of the superiority
of the place you call home, you must know all of its good points and all
of its advantages.
Only well informed citizens are
good citizens and you can't honestly
place yourself in that class until you get all of the knowledge that it is possible to acquire about Rush county.
First get the facts. Then go out and tell others.
Our Problem, Too
Oswald Ryan, a member of a commission headed by Secretary Davis
of the president's cabinet which investigated the immigration question
in Europe, says that the invasion of alien peoples is more deadly than the invasion of a hostile army.
How many people had ever viewed
the immigration problem from that standpoint?
We of small and peaceful communities have never concerned ourselves about immigration. We always have felt that it was a question far
removed from our lives and one which should occupy the attention of the large centers of population.
Recent discussion of the question,
since immigration legislation has

been before congress, has made us
realize that it is a question of grave
import and great significance.
Anything that threatens our spiritual as well as our political unity is a matter of concern to every American citizen.
Restrictions on the stream of un-
assimilable races of southern Europe and Asia, that has been flowing
into the United States for the past thirty years, now appears to be imperative.
Courage on the part of our legislators is needed to do that which is best and not that which is most expedient, for the future of the country.

Safety Sam's Sermonette
Every now 'n then something happens that tears th' mask o' pretense offa th' face o' somebody or other an' knocks th' props out from under birds you've been roostin' in high places. It don't seem t' matter whether a man's got t' be a gov-nor, cab-net member or just a common gink tryin' t' fly too high. They all can take a tumble an' th' higher they fly or th' bigger they come, th' harder they fall.
At that, flyin' too high or slippin' in th' climb for riches an'
power aint anywhere near as common a fallin' as some that are even more deadly in their results, but which are indulged in by th' proletariat, such as drivin' too fast an' slowin' too seldom, as well as not troublin' t' look at all, so I guess that what common folks like you an' me have gotta look out for mostly, is th' danger o' gettin' our almost rebuilt bus sent t' th' tinker shop again, as well as takin' a little sojourn ourselves where th' white-clad ladies walk on tiptoe while we're still out of our head. We haint half as apt t' hafta resign from a ten thousan' dollar job in order t' take a vacation at Atlanta or some other seaport as we are t' be called on t' make awkward explanations t' th' gent on th' bench down at police court as t' how come he was makin' forty on a twenty mile street or what he was lookin' at on th' sidewalk when our flivver hit th' ol' lady car-ryin' a washin'.
Th' trouble seems t' be that th' highflyin' birds get away with first one thing an' then another, till they get t' thinkin' they could get away with murder in a church, somewhat like some o' these drivers cross rail tracks a few times without slowin' lookin' or payin' any heed whatsoever, an' then think mortals who do it are fools for wastin' time!

Hunt's Washington Letter
BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, D. C.—Meet
Dave Mulvane, the Strong
Man from Kansas.
Dave is the Hercules on whose shoulders has been loaded the task
of getting everything in shipshape
for the Republican convention at Cleveland, June 10.
Up to the minute the gavel falls,
calling the 1105 delegates, the 1109
alternates, the 500 correspondents,
the 2000 "distinguished guests"
and the 8000 favored spectators to
"order," Dave, as chairman of the committee on arrangements, must shoulder the big burden of the
G. O. P. show. But once the keynote sounds his keynote, Dave
will slide out from under responsibility for the further proceedings
and leave the ringmasters to
"carry on."
A kindly-mannered, ruddy-faced,
soft-spoken man of 61 is Mulvane,
with rather bristling gray hair,
pleasant eyes beaming from behind
rimless glasses and an air of easy
cordiality. He dropped into Washington for a final discussion of convention needs before proceeding to Cleveland to dig on his job. He promised Chairman Anderson to have everything shipshape for the arrival of national committee heads
on June 1.
Mulvane, born in Illinois, now claims Topeka, Kas., as home. He practices law there, maintaining
his offices, proudly, in the "Mulvane building." Despite his name,
he's a Methodist.
THE pace of the Cleveland convention, up until after the nomination of Calvin Coolidge to succeed himself, it has been determined, will be a dignified and leisuredly one. That is, barring any monkey-wrenches in the machinery
by La Follette, Borah, Johnson and others who have been read out of the party by its conservative
leadership.
The consoling thing about reading the advertisements is that no one gets killed, divorced, sued or arrested for bootlegging.
Some people think dry jokes are not as common now as they were during the wet days.
Spring scenery is beautiful, but a bow-legged man in a golf suit doesn't help it any.
When congress amends the constitution and makes dealing in scandal a felony, then we will feel that the document is all sufficient.
Rumor is a persistent bootlegger of information.
What has become of the old-fashioned woman who made one hat do for spring and summer both?
One fine thing about this immigration agitation is that it has taught many of us that there are two "m's" in immigration and only one in emigration.
A California woman had her hair bobbed on her hundredth birthday, all of which goes to show that it isn't the first hundred years that counts.

Current Comment
A Good Man
(Union City Times)
As the primary election draws
near the Republicans are putting forth every effort to nominate a ticket in Indiana that the people of this state will have full confidence in voting for men who will carry out their best interests and at the same time look after their interests in handling the affairs of this state.
Next to the Governor's office, no
more important office is to be chosen
than that of Secretary-of-State. It is through this office practically all of the business affairs of the state
are handled and it takes a big man
fully qualified to handle it, as he comes at all times in direct contact with the people.
The Times has endorsed Frederick
E. Schortemeier for Secretary-of-State. This paper was the first Republican newspaper in the state to mention his name, and we carried his name to the Republican editorial
meeting where two hundred and eighteen Republican editors of the state endorsed his candidacy and are now urging the "powers that be" to get behind him.
His name on the Republican ticket
will be more to carry it to victory
than probably any other candidate,
not excepting that of Governor, for
he is of that quality of a man who would make an excellent governor.
He has wide acquaintance over the state, his executive ability has been tried out and proven a success and
as a diplomat has few equals in handling the many problems of state
and national affairs that have confronted him in the past.
Fred Schortemeier is a self-made
man, once a friend always a friend,
and if the newspaper fraternity of this state is to be recognized by the Republican organization of the state,
that organization must see to it that
Mr. Schortemeier is placed on the state ticket as its candidate for Secretary-of-State and if this is done
the battle of ballots is practically
won as he will bring about harmony
in the Republican ranks and cause a united front against the common enemy.

Endangers The Davis Cup

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, May 3—Injection of personalities by the United States Lawn Tennis Association into the controversy with William T. Tilden the national champion, has placed the United States in a position where it is seriously in danger of losing possession of the Davis Cup.

The Davis Cup is one of the most valuable trophies in the world of sport. It is emblematic of the world's tennis championship and, as has been pointed out in the past, it is the only trophy that really represents a championship of the whole world.

The Davis Cup strayed away from the United States several years ago, and it was brought back from Australia only after the United States had paid thousands of dollars to send teams across the world after it and after Bill Tilden and Bill Johnston had made the sacrifice of time that represented thousands of dollars to them to travel around and battle for the trophy.

To a nation that is inclined to boast of its prowess on athletic fields the Davis Cup means much. It is as much to be desired as the international polo cup and the American (yacht) Cup.

With Tilden available, the chance for any foreign nation to take the cup away from the United States this summer was very small. Without Tilden, the chance is very good. Tilden could be counted upon for two points in the challenge round and two points are a big start in a five-point match.

There is much in the controversy between the association and Tilden to make the public feel—"let's have no more of it." Tennis fans are interested chiefly in the playing of the game, and not in controversies about who is to run the game.

There is no doubt that the association felt it was doing something to preserve the game when it ruled that a player who engaged in literary work for a substantial compensation was not a real amateur at heart. There is also no reason to believe that Tilden feels that he is doing anything wrong when he accepts a contract to write articles on and about tennis for newspaper publication.

The association, after hearing an appeal from Tilden for exception from the rule, stated, unofficially, that it could not grant him immunity from the rule.

Tilden then announced that only one course was open to him and that at the end of 1924 he would be forced to withdraw from amateur competition to pursue his literary work.

Rather graciously, Tilden offered his services for any purpose desired through the season of 1924 and then proceeded to go quietly about his business.

The argument should have stopped there without any more word. The association had told Tilden that he could not play and write, and Tilden answered by saying that he would respect the sovereignty of the association and that he would write and not play.

Instead of maintaining a dignified position, the amateur rules committee, which had handled the controversy, came out, through its chairman, Holcombe Ward, with a personal blast against Tilden, in face of which he could not remain silent.

Although there had been no personalities in the entire discussion, Ward broke out with an attack on Tilden in which, among other things, he accused the champion of being an "evil influence" on the game. This attack was entirely uncalculated and it served to arouse the belief that the association was not as sure of its ground as it would like to have it believed.

Tilden then announced that he was forced to resign from the Olympic and the Davis Cup teams. But he said he would play in the national championships.

The champion argued that as he had been told he would be declared a professional on Jan. 1, 1925, for doing something that he is now doing, that he is a professional now and not eligible for amateur competition.

He did not explain, however, why he did not feel himself qualified as an amateur in the Olympic and Davis Cup matches and yet could be an amateur for the national championships.

Tilden has always been regarded as a temperamental star and there is much of the artist and the ways of an artist in him, but before Ward came out with his blast it was not believed that there were any prima donnas in the membership of the executive council.

Having gone so far in the crusade against the player-writers it is not logical that the association should back down at this late date. If the association feels that it is fighting for the right and the just, it will have to stick to its ground and rule Tilden out of tennis unless he quits writing.

It would have been much better, however for the association to have avoided personalities and to have left no impression that it was after any individual players.

ALUMNI BACK FOR PURDUE FESTIVITIES

University Begins Semi-Centennial Celebration With Group Dinners and Military Banquet

PURDUE UNIT INSPECTED

Lafayette, Ind., May 3—With the boom of howitzers and field guns, Purdue University began her semi-centennial celebration here.

About 400 alumni returned to their alma mater for the love feast and 150 delegates from other schools are present for the festivities.

The national inspection board, Lieut. Col. P. T. Haynie, member of the general staff, Lieut. Col. A. A. Maybach, U. S. coast artillery, and Lieut. Col. D. H. Biddle, cavalry, in charge of the R. O. T. C. of the 5th corps area, conducted the annual inspection of the Purdue unit.

Following the inspection, three battalions of artillery, one of 75 mm. guns, one of 3-inch guns and one of 155 mm. howitzers took the field and conducted a problem.

Festivities include a concert in the oval, group dinners for visiting delegates, a military banquet and the opening conference in Eliza Fowler hall.

OSCAR RATTS STILL STICKING TO SHIP

Paoli Man Holds Office as Member of Public Commission Despite Efforts to Oust Him

BRANCH AWAITS AN OPINION

Indianapolis, Ind., May 3—Oscar Ratts, of Paoli, still held his office at the state public service commission today despite efforts of Oscar B. Smith, of Knox, to oust him.

Smith, who was appointed by former Governor McCray before the latter retired from office, attended the meeting of the commission yesterday but did not participate in the transaction of business.

While it is known that Governor Branch holds Smith's appointment illegal, he is not going to take definite action until Attorney General Lesh has rendered an opinion.

In the meantime, Ratts is expected to continue in office. Orders issued by the commission yesterday bore Ratts's signature.

"tree" goes back to the thirteenth century, its branches having held the torches of many glittering achievements in Spain's political and military history—and to her daughter she has given a gracious background. And Carmelita's father is Tom Geraghty, who has two claims to fame—he wears the most weird and yet in-Paramount productions and a scenario writer of note, the other that he wears the most weird and yet intriguing neckties in Hollywood. Only an Irishman could get away with the ties that Tom Geraghty wears without a blush.

A child of fortune, indeed. The doors of California's Spanish social world are eager to receive her—and those doors are closed impregnable to the new rich who haven't generations of tradition back of them. She has maids at her beck and call and a lovely home. It is a wonder that Carmelita has not been spoiled. On the contrary she is determined to rise or fall by her own efforts. She insists upon paying her mother board and buying her own clothes, and Mrs. Geraghty, being wise as well as as gracious, permits her to do so.

Carmelita is clever. In her acting she has had as yet little opportunity to express her personality, but she has a little way of getting what she wants that is going to mean a great deal as she goes on. Still on the sunny side of twenty, naive, childish at times, she has bred in her that feminine allure of her Spanish ancestry, which serves to temper with discretion the do-it-or-die spirit of the Irish.

If the director wants a scene done one way and Carmelita, knowing what the girls of to-day would do in a certain situation through the wisest of directors sometimes don't, thinks it should be done another, she does not argue. Ah, no, not Carmelita. One killing glance from those big, brown baby-vamp eyes, the slurring cadences of that soft voice, "Of course you are right, you are so clever and know all about those things—but won't you, just this once, to please me, let me try it my way too?"

The director humors her—what man wouldn't with Carmelita focusing her batteries full upon him. The scene is shot both ways; and when both are viewed in the projection room, nine times out of ten her method wins.

"Mother couldn't see at first why I should want to work at anything, when I had all the money and clothes I needed or wanted," began Carmelita, lounging indolently against a pile of cushions, flashing brown eyes and expressive hands italicizing each word. "But, even while I was going to high school, I got tired of being called 'Tom Geraghty's daughter.' 'Daddy wanted me to write, but I was crazy to act.'"

It is to her credit that she began as an extra, setting that firm little chin against her father's coaxing that she let him pull a string or two for her.

DOUBTS TWO-THIRDS RULE IS IN EXISTENCE

W. R. Hollister, Executive Secretary of Democratic National Committee is Investigating

THINKS MAJORITY ENOUGH

Jefferson City, Mo., May 3—There is no such thing as a rule requiring a two-third majority of the Democratic national convention to nominate a presidential candidate at the present, and a majority will be necessary only if the convention adopts a rule requiring two-thirds, W. R. Hollister, executive secretary of the Democratic national committee from 1916 to 1920 contended today.

Hollister, an avowed McAdoo supporter, is a delegate to the national convention from the eighth district. He said he conducted researches through the proceedings of the 1920 convention at San Francisco and found that nothing was ever done to affirm the rules of the 1916 convention, which adopted a rule requiring two thirds. Consequently, Cox did not need the two-thirds majority he received to be nominated, Hollister said.

Hollister advocates the abolishment of the two thirds "tradition" substituting a requirement for a majority vote only.

ever, makes a primary selection seem impossible.

With Senator Ralston unopposed in the Democratic presidential race and supporters of President Coolidge claiming the state for him by an overwhelming majority, the presidential primary race attracted relatively little attention in its final stages.

It is freely predicted that President Coolidge will win the Indiana delegation to the national convention by a popular vote of as much as seven to one over Hiram Johnson.

Coolidge men say the only question throughout the campaign has been how badly the President would whip Johnson in Indiana. Johnson's cancellation of all speaking dates scheduled for this week in the state put a crisp in plans of his managers to "whoop-it-up" during the remainder of the campaign.

More attention is being given to local and legislative candidates as the day of election draws near.

HARGROVE & BROWN

Miss Donnan's Class in Literature will meet this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Claude Calhoun in North Main Street instead of the Assembly room of the court house.

The Young Ladies Mission Circle of the Main Street Christian church will meet Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Iva Smith, 220 North Julian street. The assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Hazel Daubenspeck and Mrs. Elsie Busch.

The Sexton Mission Society will hold their May meeting at the home of Mrs. John Weisse, on Wednesday afternoon, May 7, instead of Tuesday afternoon. The change of dates was made on account of primary election on the 6th. Mrs. Weisse will have charge of the Devotional period; Mrs. William Kiser will read a paper on "United Work for Christ." Dora Winkler will give the current news; Mrs. Elsworth Kiser will give the bible questions and Mrs. George Winkler the bible study. All members are urged to be present and visitors are welcome.

On Wednesday evening, April 30, a number of neighbors and friends very quietly surprised Mrs. Elmer Kellam with a pitch-in supper, it being in honor of Mrs. Kellam's birthday. The evening was spent enjoyably with music and games. The following were present, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Waggoner, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Rodgers and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ellart Hungerford and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lora Alexander and family, Mr. and Mrs. Faran Whitinger and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Gosnell and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Reed and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hungerford and family, Mr. and Mrs. Birney Piper and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hasty and family, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Campbell and James VanSickle.

"Art in America" particularly relating to the drama, was the subject of the lecture by Prof. W. E. Jenkins, of Indiana University, before the guest meeting of the Shakespeare club held Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Robert L. Tompkins in East Seventh street. A number of guests were present for Mr. Jenkins' lecture, which was thoroughly enjoyed by his audience. This was the closing lecture of a series, which he has given before the Shakespeare club Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program.

Officers that have been elected for the following year are as follows: Mrs. Donald D. Ball, president; Miss Lois Fritter, vice-president; Miss Lena Buell, secretary, and Miss Mary Sleeth, chairman of the program committee.

The Elks Club rooms, beautifully decorated with floor lamps, ferns and spring flowers, with the color scheme of pink and white predominating, formed a most elaborate setting for the annual Junior-Senior reception held Friday evening. The members of the two classes of the Graham high school, the faculty and the school board were guests.

Upon the arrival of the guests, they were received in a reception room where a social time was enjoyed until the time arrived for the serving of the delicious three course banquet. Four ushers escorted them into the dance hall, where the cabaret dinner was served. The hall had been transformed into a beautiful dining room, the center of the room being used for the small cabaret tables and around the walls were placed beautiful floor lamps with their artistic shades which cast a soft glow over the banqueters. Intermingled among the lamps were large ferns which made the decorations appear more effective. The adornments for the tables carried out the color scheme of pink and white, the senior class colors. The even number of tables looked very pretty with their bud vases containing large pink roses, and the odd tables were arranged with candle sticks containing white candles with pink rose shades. Quaint pink and white Lolly-Pop dolls and miniature gum drop corages were given as favors. Their menu programs were especially attractive with the different items on the list corresponding with the names of some of the guests present.

Preceding the serving of the banquet, an orchestra from Richmond played a few selections and during each course of the banquet, they rendered musical numbers. Between the first and second course Miss Helen Jaehne, a member of the faculty, sang a group of three solos, two indian songs and a Swedish folk song, and Mrs. John Swain gave two readings. Miss Graces Kirkpatrick gave a dance during the second and third courses, and the orchestra played a selection. Following the serving of the banquet, several toasts were given, Miss Carolyn Wilson of the Junior class acting as the toastmistress. Those responding with toasts were Earl McNamara, president of the Junior class; Douglas Morris, president of the Senior class; Burke Dugal, a Junior; Mrs. A. L. Aldridge, a member of the school board; Eugene M. Butler, principal of the high school and Prof. J. H. Scholl, superintendent of the schools.

The banquet was faultlessly served by a number of girls of the Junior high school, who looked lovely with their pretty dresses and who added much to the success of the reception.

Following the banquet dancing was enjoyed, the orchestra furnishing several delightful dance numbers.

SLEEVELESS AND SHORT-SLEEVED FROCKS IN VOGUE AGAIN THIS YEAR

By HEDDA HOYT
Fashion Editor of the United Press
(Written for United Press)

New York, May 3—In spite of last Summer's many controversies on the sleeveless frock, short-sleeved frocks remain in vogue. The frock of this season, however, is not as entirely sleeveless as last season's frock, which often displayed the entire shoulder, giving rather an "undressed" effect.

Palm Beach fashionables are sponsoring the gown that is cut with wide shoulder-line, covering the bone of the shoulder but leaving the entire arm bare. Most of the summery gowns of silk, crepe, voile, etc., use this wide shoulder effect, which is quite as cool as last season's model and a little less daring.

Many of the smart waistcoats designed to be worn under the suit this year are cut with the extended shoulder line and without sleeves. When the jacquette is removed they are quite as lovely as the blouse in effect. Sometimes fringed-end scarfs of the same material as the waistcoat are attached at the back neckline to give a finished appearance to the garment when the coat is removed. A stunning waistcoat of this type is made of henna-colored silk crepe and embroidered in navy blue and gold. This is fashioned very much like the gentleman's vest, being cut with the V-shaped neck, buttoning down the front and terminating in points below the normal waistline. Pockets are embroidered in the colors I have mentioned and the entire border is outlined in color. The self-toned scarf is fringed on the ends and embroidered.

SCARF STILL POPULAR

It looks as though we'll be tied by the throat until we are dead, dead, dead! Or, until the scarf is dead. Scarfs are as individual as tooth brushes, it would seem. Every frock, suit or wrap must have a scarf of its very own. Sizes range from small bed-sheet widths to four-inch widths and colors are rampant. "By our scarfs ye shall know us" declare the younger misses as they drape gaudy plaid homespun about their slender throats. Older women prefer the scarf that is an accompaniment to the gown, being of the same shade and attached to the gown rather than the separate, blatant effects. And for the really elderly lady there are some lovely shawl-scarfs of soft-pleated chiffon that are adorable. Some of these are made in pinafore effect, with tiny ruffles of pleated chiffon. These come in black, amethyst and cream shades.

A BUTTON SEASON

"Button, button, who's got the button" is the favorite game of the designer these days. Buttons of every size and description are being used on the Spring frocks. Little respect is paid to the button-hole, however, as the button of this season is entirely divorced from the button-hole, being only an adornment. Buttons are used to trim pocket tops, seams, hems, to form clusters of flowers, as hat trimmings, and in fact, wherever Madame Modiste sees fit to place trimming she grabs the button bag. She uses buttons of crystal, wood, cut-steel, colored glass, pearl, rhinestone, ivory, jet—anything, just so it is a button!

SAILOR HATS

The mannish sailor hat of straw is again coming into vogue, if we may believe the millinery wholesalers, who claim that the tailored vogue demands the trim sailor hat. Those that I have seen are trimmed in scarfs of vivid color, which take the place of the ribbon hat band.

These scarfs wrap artfully about the crown, extending almost the height of the crown, and the ends are concealed under the folds. Several of these models have neck-scarfs to match, and one can imagine how well this combination would look with the boyish suit.

COLORS SHOES

That women "are children at heart" is proven by the return of the bright-colored shoe. At the end of the last Summer we believed that the colored shoe was as dead as the proverbial door nail. Colored shoes had become common-place and better groomed women would have none of them. Now, as Spring returns, they are re-entering the fashion world. Colored suede is much newer and smarter than colored kid, and the colored shoe of this season is to be worn on the ballroom floor—not on the streets! Several of the younger women dancing at the popular Palais Royal Restaurant last evening wore suede slippers in colors such as orange, red, light blue and gray, trimmed in rhinestone buckles. While suede doesn't seem the proper leather for evening wear, it is being worn by the smartly gowned women. Stockings worn with the colored shoe are invariably flesh or peach-toned.

MRS. CORA SAXON IS NEW CHAIRMAN

ers the importance of the home upon the child. She said the home must be quiet and not a place for family quarrels, for they have such an influence upon the child. The problem of womanhood was brought up in connection with this subject and in discussing this phase of the subject, she said that womanhood meant self-control and not easily discouraged, easy to give up, and ready to lose self-control of herself.

Three poems were read by Mrs. Pittenger at the conclusion of her talk which dealt with child life and the Federation work. "The federation wants to be able to count on you to stand up for it and whenever an emergency arises expects you to be able to assist," the state leader said in closing.

Mrs. Hamet D. Hinkle, the first vice-president of the Indiana Federated Clubs, of Vincennes, was also present and made a short address, explaining the Universal membership campaign, and urging that this district become a member.

It is the plan that every club shall not only be state federated but generally federated with the international federation, which also means the adequate financing of all federated clubs, including county, district, state and general federated clubs.

Instead of paying dues to your own club, to your county organization, to the district and to the state, every woman in the club shall pay 50 cents per year as federation dues. The first 25 cents will go to the state treasury, the next ten cents will be sent to the general federated woman's club, the next ten cents returned to the treasurer of the district in which the club is located and the last five cents returned to the treasurer of the county in which the club is located. This plan would furnish adequate finances for the carrying on of the work of the federated clubs in general.

In closing her talk, she mentioned the buying of national headquarters for the Federated Clubs at Washington. Indiana agreed to pay $5,000 on the building and at the present time only about half of this pledge is raised. She made a plea that all the ladies pay in ten cents on this pledge which would make up the balance of the pledge.

Following her talk, reports of the auditing committee and the treasurer were heard and the election of the officers took place. A splendid crowd attended the sessions.

The morning session was taken up mostly with business, including the appointment of committees and reports of county chairmen. Mrs. E. C. Rumpel of Indianapolis, the general federation director, gave a short talk. At the afternoon session Miss Charlotte Norris sang a beautiful solo.

Guests at the convention warmly praised the social features of the

Let's Give Control of the County and State to

Candidates that Have Sincere, Honest and Upright Intentions

Watch for the Marked Ballots

When politicians will resort to unprincipled methods to win votes they are not entitled to the support of right thinking citizens. Ed Jackson, the avowed Ku Klux candidate for Governor of Indiana, was represented in this county Thursday of this week by a COLORED MAN, who said his name was William Hockett of Indianapolis, who tried to explain to the colored voters what Ed Jackson would do for the colored people of the state if he was elected their Governor.

Right Thinking people KNOW what the Ku Klux will do for the colored people and when any politician tries to win at any cost of principle, it seems that the people of our good County and State should realize that politicians of this sort have other principles that they will sell out to win POWER and CONTROL.

Let's Not Be Controlled By Unprincipled Officers

Before you vote, be sure you see the Marked Ballots and vote for the ones that want to win with an honest and sincere intention of service to the County and State.

Biennial Convention of General Federation of Women's Clubs to be Held at Los Angeles

ENDORSE MOVIE CENSORSHIP

Women Have on Their Program A Visit to Hollywood and Studios Movie Stars on Program

(By United Press)
Washington, May 3.—"What will the women of the United States do about the movie censorship?" promises to be a live subject at the coming biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at Los Angeles June 2-13.

The federation has endorsed State censorship, but not Federal censorship—but has not pushed the subject.

The women have on their Los Angeles program a visit to Hollywood and the studios. Certain movie stars of spotless reputations—will appear on the program, and certain hospitalities will be tendered the ladies, none of which will be of the character featured in the daily paper crime columns.

At the Hot Springs biennial convention in 1918 a resolution, introduced by Mrs. A. H. Finn of Detroit, was adopted and has never been rescinded. It read:

"That the General Federation recommend that women in the various States use all possible effort toward extending the area which is protected by law from the influence of harmful films, inducing the Legislature of States aside from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kansas and Maryland (where legal censorship then existed) to enact laws similar to the motion picture censorship laws of those States, Governors to appoint suitable men and women to administer these laws, and in general to make and strengthen public opinion so that there may be authority at hand to cope with an evil which so seriously threatens the proper foundation of society."

At the Chautauqua Federation Convention in 1922 the motion picture chairman from a number of states were all primed to launch an active campaign for censorship. But Will Hays took a hand and convinced the ladies that, since he had assumed the exordium of movie land, no one need bother about the censorship. So that matter was dropped.

It is understood in Federation circles here that the present temper of the women indicates practical certainty that the censorship will come up again and a big fight made. Mrs. Finn, the author of the 1918 resolution, says that the work of Mrs. Harry Lilly of New York, motion picture chairman succeeding Mrs. Woodallen Chapman, appointed immediately after the Federation's resolution for censorship in Hot Springs, "has not worked in the interest of the resolution, but in the interest of the motion picture people." This, she says, "is a serious matter."

The Finn faction is now ready, it is stated, to make a fight for Federal supervision in the shape of a bill for the regulation of motion pictures in interstate commerce, along the line of the Upham bill, introduced by the National Motion Picture Conference held in Washington in February, and introduced

How's Your Appetite?
Are You Nervous?
Do You Cough?

Bedford, Ind.—I had the 'flu' and it almost got the best of me. It left me in a very weak, nervous condition. I had no appetite and was so weak it was all I could do to walk across the room; I also had an awful cough. I tried several different medicines and a good doctor also, but was getting weaker every day. At last I decided to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and I can truthfully say that it has done me more good than any other medicine I have ever taken. The third day after I began taking it I was hungry. My appetite is now very good, and I am able to do my housework.—Mrs. Mary E. Casada, 309 North M Street.

REHEARSAL, RETAKE, RECUT ARE THREE "R'S" OF SILVER SCREEN

By HAROLD E. SWISHER
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
Hollywood, May 3—There are three "R's" in the little red school house, faded in song and memory, those three "R's" are famous the nation over: "reading," "riting" and "rithmetic."

There are three "R's" in studio-land, as well: not so well known, perhaps, but of vital importance in picture production. They are the "rehearsal," the "retake" and the "recut."

"Just as 'reading,' 'riting' and 'rithmetic' are the basis of education, so the rehearsal, the retake and the recut are the basis of perfection in motion pictures," according to Herbert Brown, well known Paramount producer.

"Although motion pictures are the very essence of human drama, yet when they arrive before the public they have been perfected so that the human element is entirely eliminated. No matter how skilled may be the players who engage in a stage production, there is always the possibility that some unforeseen circumstance may arise which may ruin the performance. In motion pictures, this is an impossibility. The rehearsal, the retake and the recut completely remove the chance of failure."

"Motion picture players enjoy this unique advantage among professional performers," Brown says. "The projection room is also an incalculable advantage to the director. He sees how far each scene will go toward creating the impression he desires for the whole, and can correct errors or improve shortcomings. Then, when the picture is finished, the projection room makes it possible for him to cut

and re-cut his film until he achieves a smooth running picture. The finished product which appears before the eye of the spectator moves to its appointed climax with the certainty of the inevitable.

"All the old time terrors which haunt legitimate actors—misses cues, forgotten lines, false notes or stage accidents—are unknown in motion pictures."

American women are the best dressed women in the world, regardless of the fact that Paris turns out the most beautiful gowns, according to Claire Windsor, Goldwyn player, who recently returned from the French capital.

"Apparently they make them for Americans, for you can find more beautifully dressed women here in one afternoon than you can in Paris in a week," Miss Windsor said.

"Every dressmaker's shop in Paris is filled with American women, and men, too, for they seem to enjoy the shopping. And, by the way, it does my heart good to see lots of American men again. Europeans can't touch them."

Francis X. Bushman has cabled friends that he has reached Seville on his way to Rome to enact the role of Messala in "Ben Hur." He said the weather was fine in Spain, although quite cold, and bullfighting is rotten sport. The actor and his sister, Miss Bernadette Bushman, are touring Europe before he begins work.

Eight years ago Stuart Holmes bought a few acres of ranch land a short distance from San Francisco. He bought the land for a song, and was in vaudeville at the time, and could sing.

Holmes says he has paid more taxes on the property during the time than it cost him, and during the period never had an offer from a prospective purchaser.

Recently, Holmes took an automobile trip to San Francisco and discovered a huge oil storage tank on the property adjoining his land. The next day he had a sign erected on his acreage. It read: "Here is the future home of the N. G. Powder Company."

Within a few hours, Holmes declares, he had frantic bids for the property and made a satisfactory and profitable sale.

With the addition of Victory Bateman to the cast of "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," Marshall Neilan has filled all of the most important roles in the Thomas Hardy story. Miss Bateman is a well known legitimate stage star of over a decade ago.

The foot and mouth disease recently raging in California is nothing new, says Carey Wilson, Goldwyn associate editor.

"Some years ago," says Wilson, "I had a girl who was afflicted by it. She wanted to eat all the time and wouldn't walk a step."

Grace Chu, Student at Western College, Assists Ably in Campaign for Finances

LOCAL GIRLS HAVE PART

Miss Grace Chu, a student from China, is doing her share in working for the million dollar endowment campaign at Western College, Oxford, Ohio. On Friday evening, May 3, Miss Chu in native costume recited Chinese poetry. This is a survival of the custom in the times of the old scops and gleemen.

Miss Chu is the niece of Hsuing Hsi Ling, premier of China during the first republic. Her uncle is interested in establishing orphanages. Her aunt is starting schools, creating an opportunity for the poor class of people, especially the women, to gain an education.

Miss Chu is very talented, being able to sing, to play several Chinese musical instruments, to draw and to paint with great skill. Since coming to Western she has written Chinese poems in memory books, made place cards, and prepared Chinese foods for the endowment.

After Miss Chu finishes her four years at Western she will return to China to help her aunt and uncle in their work.

The Misses Elsie George and Kathryn Wilson of this city, who are attending Western College, are both enthusiastically helping in the campaign.

SUFFERED SINCE YOUNG GIRL

Words Failed to Express Benefit Received from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Greenville, Texas. — "Words cannot express how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. Every month I would have cramps and headache, and I felt like I was freezing to death. I suffered in this way from the time I was a young girl, and all the doctors said was 'operation.' For months I had a tired, sleepy feeling all day, and when night would come I would be so nervous I couldn't stay in bed. Our druggist recommended the Vegetable Compound to my husband and he bought four bottles. I have taken every one and I think I have a right to praise your medicine."—Mrs. J. B. HOLLEMAN, 2214 E. Marshal Street, Greenville, Texas.

For fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been used by women from girlhood through middle age.

It is a dependable medicine for troubles common to women. Such symptoms as Mrs. Holleman had are relieved by correcting the cause of the trouble. For sale by druggists everywhere.
